The Secret of Uncle Sam's Expand-able Arteries

The larger part, by far, of the great lifestream of goods that helps keep you and your country strong and vigorous flows through the nation's vital arteries of transportation – the railroads. And this is done with unique economy in manpower, fuel, and other materials.

Perhaps the most remarkable characteristic of these rail arteries is their inherent ability to expand their capacity more readily and with greater economy than any other form of transportation – particularly in times of national emergency. The secret lies in putting more tons in the cars and more cars in the trains.

But if the nation is to have the full benefit of these advantages, the railroads should have greater freedom to adjust their rates and services promptly – greater freedom to compete with other forms of transportation on an equal basis.

Versatile R.O.W. Worker

THAT FITS RIGHT INTO YOUR COST-CUTTING PROGRAM

When you look for new ways to cut costs on right-of-way construction and maintenance, look into a versatile Bucyrus-Erie excavator.

Its ability to handle different jobs is multiplied by quick-change front ends — your maintenance crew can convert to shovel, crane, dragline or clamshell right in the field without major changes in main machinery.

On excavating work, powerful crowd action and high-speed dig, swing and dump cycles result in sustained high output. Precision control provides the kind of accuracy needed for time-saving crane work. Sound engineering that assures proper weight distribution, and extra strength without dead weight means less maintenance and real operating economy.

Our distributor in your area has the complete story on Bucyrus-Erie excavators from ⅜- to 4-cu. yd.— see him soon. 128E55

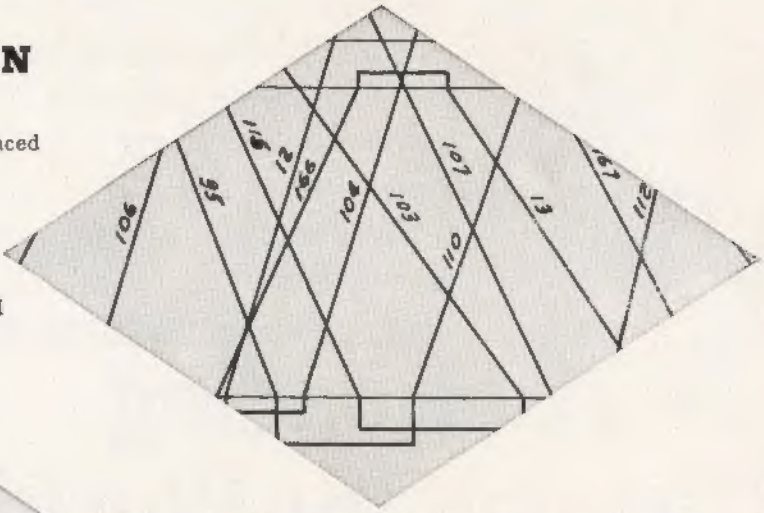
TM UTILIZATION

As planned on paper, 2400 hp. Train Masters at three key points on three divisions have replaced 1500 and 1600 hp. units at a ratio of 1 to 2, affecting better utilization of all motive power. They handle nine types of service in all, on a three trick basis, including yard drag service, symbol freight, humping, passenger and mine drag service.



TM POWER

Train Master provides the right combination of power and traction motor capacity to handle jobs beyond the ability of a standard road switcher. Furthermore, two standard road-switchers was an over-investment in motive power. Selecting TMs effected a considerable saving in initial investment over buying units of lesser horsepower and gave better utilization.

A factual report on lapstrake boats:

New Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs for 1955

CHRIS-CRAFT'S new Sea Skiff Fleet for 1955 includes seven husky models—open boats, express cruisers and semi-enclosed cruisers, 18 through 35 ft. in length. They're traditional in design and seaworthiness. They're advanced in construction, equipment and performance. They are better lapstrake boats than have been built to date.

Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs are exceptionally rugged and watertight, with exclusive new Chris-Craft Sea Skiff Sealer in all seams and joints from keel to seat risers in 18, 22 and 26-ft. models, from keel to sheer in 30 and 35-ft. models. They provide a wide choice of single or twin engines, including Diesel, that produce power to carry big loads at high speeds. They are dry, soft-cushion riding, even in rough water. They have unusual maneuverability and handling ease with positive control at all speeds. The Sea Skiff is a practical, all purpose boat—one you can use for almost anything, from thrilling water sports to heavy-duty utility purposes.

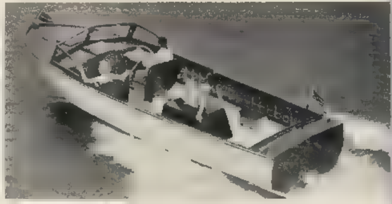
Quality features are standard equipment: sturdy skeg to protect the bottom; bronze shoe to protect the propeller on 18, 22 and 26-ft. models; dependable worm-and-pinion, rod-to-bronze-rudder steering; ventilated bilge; fuel tank mounted below aft deck, vented overboard, water-cooled copper exhaust pipe; and many, many more!

A large selection of optional equipment—such as ventilating or non-ventilating windshield, folding canvas or permanent top, icebox or fish box, toilet, cushions, and many others—plus a choice of attractive hull colors, let you tailor your new Sea Skiff to your individual boating needs.

Read this report on 1955 Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs thoroughly. Visit your Chris-Craft Sea Skiff Dealer or write the factory for complete information. Compare Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs with other boats of this type. Then you'll see why a Chris-Craft is a better round bilge, lapstrake boat than any other ever built! Buy your new Sea Skiff now!

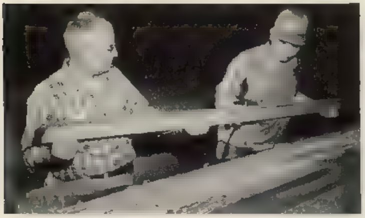
Prices quoted f.o.b. factory, subject to change without notice.

Value plus! New 18-ft. Sea Skiff with 60 h.p. engine, speeds to 25 m.p.h. A practical boat practically priced from $2290. Sea Skiff strakes are 5-ply marine-grade Fir plywood for maximum strength



New 26-ft. Sea Skiff. Room for two berths forward. Frames of Philippine Mahogany and steam-bent White Oak. Engine options to 190 h.p., speeds to 29 m.p.h. Priced from $3600

CHRIS-CRAFT SEA SKIFFS ARE FAR STRONGER, FAR MORE WATERTIGHT!



Seams and joints of all Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs are reinforced with Chris-Craft's synthetic-rubber-based Sea Skiff Sealer. It is both a tenacious adhesive and a watertight sealer. It makes Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs far stronger than ordinary lapstrake boats, provides them with a new kind of long-lasting watertightness.

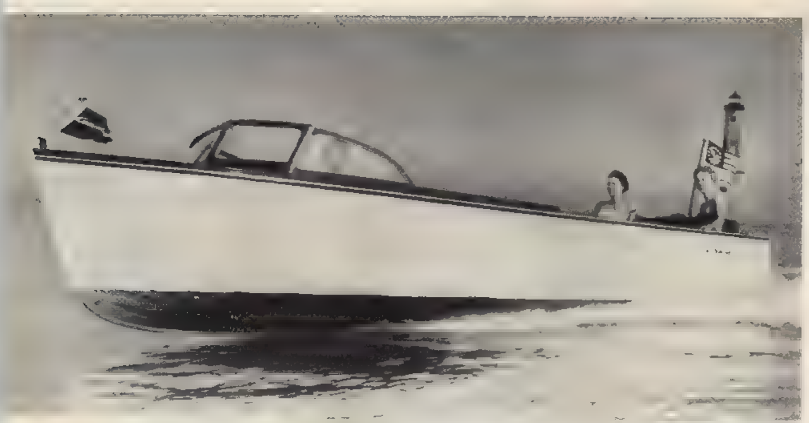
Chris-Craft Sea Skiff Sealer adds strength. Tests showed that a pull of 32 lbs. per sq. in. separated the seams in ordinary lapstrake hull construction—clout nails with putty or compound filler. A pull of 130 to 150 lbs. per sq. in. (more than four times more force) was required to tear apart Chris-Craft strakes fastened with copper clout nails and Sea Skiff Sealer. Even then, the seams held but the wood around the seams shredded!

Sea Skiff Sealer is elastic. A block of wood, bonded to another block with 1/16-in. thickness of Sea Skiff Sealer, can, with considerable force, be moved transversely about 1/4 in. across the bonded surface of the second block without losing adhesion. When pressure is released, the two blocks return to their original relative position. Applied to Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs, this sealer allows the strakes to "work" without affecting the bonding seal.

Sea Skiff Sealer provides a watertight bond. A Sea Skiff using Sea Skiff Sealer without copper-clout-nail fastenings was subjected to severe rough-water tests at high speeds. After months of testing, the hull remained completely intact and watertight.

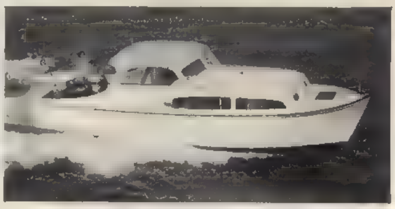
Also, Chris-Craft Sea Skiff Sealer is highly resistant to the effects of water, weathering, fuel and oil. A test patch, exposed to sun and weather continuously for over eight years, showed no tendency toward brittleness or cracking.

New Chris-Craft round-bilge, lapstrake Sea Skiffs—with Sea Skiff Sealer—are far more durable, far more watertight than other boats of this type. And you can get Chris-Craft Sea Skiff Sealer only on a new Chris-Craft Sea Skiff. Can you afford to buy any other make of lapstrake boat?



Poise and performance: Brawny 22-ft. Chris-Craft Sea Skiff. Option of 60 or 95 h.p. engine, speeds to 28 m.p.h. Priced from $2980.

Two-sleeper 30-ft. Sea Skiff Semi-Enclosed Cruiser with galley, toilet compartment, clothes locker in full-headroom cabin. Diesel, single or twin engines to 190 h.p., speeds to 25 m.p.h. From $7990.



Big 35-ft. Sea Skiff Semi-Enclosed Cruiser with dinette, galley, toilet compartment, Vee berths forward. Sleeps four. Diesel or twin engines to 260 h.p., speeds to 27 m.p.h. Priced from $12,210

THESE QUALITY FEATURES ARE STANDARD ON CHRIS-CRAFT SEA SKIFFS!

Bronze shoe protects propeller, on 18, 22, and 26-ft. models. Rudder is bronze.

Sturdy skeg provides underwater protection. Bottom paint is anti-fouling.

sands of petitions from children all over the country poured into the Disney office, begging them not to let Davy die. One department store capitalized on this situation by having a promotion in which children came into the store to sign petitions for Davy's life. The promotion exceeded the store's wildest dreams. One official said, "every kid in the city must have come in to sign."

In conjunction with the Disney Davy Crockett merchandise, which is really an outgrowth of the Frontierland section of Disneyland Park, now under construction in Anaheim, California, Disney is licensing Frontierland merchandise, as well as items relating to Tomorrowland, Fantasyland, and Adventureland.

Disney Draws Something New—Love Letters

In a recent copyrighted column, radio and television critic John Crosby commented on the flood of fan mail received by the Disney office since the beginning of the "Disneyland" telecasts. According to Crosby, the "Disneyland" program draws many thousands of letters from viewers.

Included among the bouquets and brickbats youngsters send to the Disney studio, says Crosby, are letters professing undying love for Walt Disney himself; many complaining that the child's parents prefer some other program scheduled at the same time, so that the youngsters can't ever see "Disneyland"; letters detailing the young writer's personal problems.

Some of the letters contain substantial and constructive criticisms. One group of teachers complained that their pupils were accomplishing nothing on Thursdays, because the children had stayed up late the night before to watch the telecast.

The story of Davy Crockett

Out of the legendary past comes the toy industry's latest licensing personality. When Walt Disney revived one of the west's greatest sagas for his TV program, he couldn't foresee the tremendous response that the historical figure would create. Now Davy Crockett rides again—this time as hero to toy manufacturers who have tied in with Disney's version of the frontier king.

ONCE in a blue moon an item hits the retail counters and becomes an overnight sensation—a hot item. This phenomenon usuallly causes a few pleasant headaches to the people behind the scenes—the producers, the wholesalers, and even the retailer himself. But it eventually straightens itself out and runs its profitable course.

Today—this minute—the phenomenon is here. Many items, not just one, are equally "hot" and manufacturers are hard put to it to design, produce, and channel the related merchandise fast enough for the waiting public to snap it up.

Song an Immediate Hit

This group of items is the Davy Crockett merchandise. And the man to be thanked for the overwhelming demand for the Crockett items is Walt Disney, who, as part of his television series conceived and planned a series of three programs about the famed frontiersman. The morning following the first program in December record dealers were swamped with inquiries about the song which was used as a theme for the series. Within a very short time the top song on the Hit Parade was The Ballad of Davy Crockett

38 Are Licensed

At the time of writing, 38 soft goods and toy manufacturers were licensed by Disney for his Davy Crockett merchandise, and according to report the items were selling as fast as they appeared on the counters. The items include clothing and accessories in the soft goods field, and raccoon skin caps, coloring pictures, records, costumes, comic books, complete outfits, dolls, paint sets, construction kits, tents, games, puzzles, lunch boxes, musical instruments, books, blocks, film projectors with film strips, cardboard hut, bow and arrow sets, toy guns and powder horns, and school bags in the toy field

(Since the Davy Crockett name and story is in the public domain—which means that no one owns the rights to the name or story—some manufacturers are producing Davy Crockett items, based on the historical character, that are not licensed by Disney. Walt Disney, however, has created his version of Davy Crockett as personified by Fess Parker.)

© Walt Disney Productions

Fess Parker, star of Disney's Davy Crockett series.

Parker Signs

Disney had been thinking of doing a feature on Davy Crockett for many years, according to the Disney office, but it was not until he met Fess Parker, a 27-year-old, six-foot-five Texan, that he felt that he had found a suitable man to play the role. As a result, Parker was signed to a five-year-contract—the first adult to sign a contract with Disney Productions.

Here it also can be said that the fantastic response to the programs came as a surprise to the Disney organization. About three quarters of a million dollars was spent on making the original three episodes, and in fact, Disney figured that he would lose money on them. Now, however, he plans to release a full-length, technicolor film called, Davy Crockett King of the Wild Frontier, in the early part of the summer. In addition, in the fall, four one-hour television shows will be done on the Legends of Davy Crockett. These will be based on fictional episodes in the life of the hero.

Petition Promotion

Probably the most overwhelming reaction to the programs was the response to the last in the series. Thou-

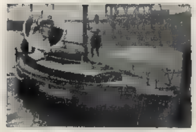
Yachtsmen establish durability of GLOBE "NO-MAR" Fenders



(FRANK TINDLE AND "DUTCHESS" HIS ALL STEEL YAWL)

You'll agree with Frank Tindle — well known Buffalo owner-skipper that: Globe "No-Mar" Fenders are extremely pliable, easy on the rail, yet so tough nothing seems to hurt them. The guard type fenders roll with the boat because of their rounded shape.

(COMMANDER RICHARD F MOSER-N- AND HIS 37 FOOT "BOBCAT")

Richard F. Moser — N — Commander Buffalo Power Squadron and skipper of the internationally famous "Bobcat" says: "Globe 'No-Mar' Fenders outlast all others I've used and I've used most of 'em! They stand up under drastic pounding that flattens, cuts or tears other fenders. Globe Fenders will really 'take it'!"

Globe "No-Mar" Fenders won't mildew, rot or get waterlogged. The heavy one piece seamless tubing cover is impregnated with a special compound "the miracle raincoat" that sheds water — yet they float! The rubber impregnated granular material cushions your boat safely. And the heavy brass gromets at each end assure easy secure fastening in lateral or horizontal positions. Under actual working conditions, subjected to the severest tests, "No-Mar" Fenders outwear most fenders three to one!

8 GLOBE NO-MAR FENDERS — A SIZE FOR EVERY BOAT

No.	Diameter	Length	Price

GLOBE LONG FENDERS — for "locking thru"

No.	Diameter	Length	Price
672 a	6"	72"	$30.00

Globe "No-Mar" Fenders stay gleaming white (or "Coast Guard" orange, if you prefer) when brushed with Globe "Bristol-Coat", the new quick-drying, resurfacing paint for fenders, life-preservers, etc.

Ask your marine dealer for Globe products and the educational booklet "The Art of Fender Tending".

CANDACE II

An awning has been designed to stretch from the craft's folding Navy top to the motor hood, completely enclosing the cockpit against inclement weather. The commodious cockpit—with the use of sleeping bags— allows for comfortable overnight accommodation of two children or adult guests.

PARKER IN OLIVER OUTBOARD POST

W. Ron Parker, formerly sales engineer for the Oliver Corporation's Aviation Division the past three years, has been named sales promotion manager of Oliver's Outboard Motor Division at Battle Creek, Mich.

The announcement was made by Richard M. W. Cors, sales director of the Oliver outboard motor branch. Oliver recently purchased the outboard motor branch of the Chris-Craft Corporation.

The Oliver Corporation plans to begin production of outboard motors some time in February.

CANDACE II ★

A practical little outboard cruiser which may be moved by trailer to interesting waters

CANDACE II, owned by Mr. and Mrs. William C. Scott, of Milwaukee, is exceptional with appointments not usually found in the typical outboard cruiser. The mid-western couple, veteran cruising enthusiasts, designed and constructed the cabin and cockpit accommodations for the hull, a 21-foot 8-inch Voyager.

Mr. Scott, vice-president in charge of marketing and merchandising for the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company, has trailed the boat thousands of miles. Week end and vacation junkets find Candace II most often used on Lake Michigan and in the lake region of northern Wisconsin.

The cruiser is powered by a pair of 25 h.p. Evinrude Big Twins, equipped with electric starters. Evinrude vacuum fuel systems supply the motors from two 20-gallon permanent tanks installed under the bridge seat, giving a wide cruising range independent of fueling stops.

A hinged hood with fiberglass sound insulation covers the motors. A large galley and folding cockpit tables assure ample room in which to prepare and serve food. (Continued on page 202)

Fitted with twin Evinrude 25 h.p. electric starting Big Twins, Candace II is fueled by two 20-gallon tanks installed under the bridge seat. The seaworthy craft boasts a large galley, folding cockpit table and a hinged motor hood with fiberglass insulation

Food chest, ice chest and alcohol stove make for a compact galley aboard Candace II. It is located on the starboard side of the cabin

Owned by Mr. and Mrs. William C. Scott, of Milwaukee, Candace II, a 21-foot Voyager, is easily trailed to and launched in almost any body of water. Twin Evinrudes give speeds up to 25 miles

VISIT GRAY'S EXHIBIT AT EVERY MAJOR BOAT SHOW

It pays dividends to give the user what he wants, and this is easy for us to do because all Graymarine engines have a single source. This enables us to maintain basic control of design and quality, from the cylinder block foundry to the finished engine.

You will see that all Graymarine engines have a uniform pattern of accessory arrangement, which does not change even when the engine is equipped for fresh water cooling system. Note similarity of appearance. This consistency also applies to the internal design, because all have Individual Intake Porting, and water between all bores—items of extra value which—though unseen when you look at the engine, are nevertheless important in marine work.

Graymarine has concentrated on building the best marine engines for 48 years. We have no other activity. You, the user, benefit from this undivided responsibility. Last year you gave us the biggest year in our peace time history, for which we thank you.

23-in. Tall 8.95

- I assume almost any life-like pose
- I'm 23 inches tall—I go to sleep
- My long Saran pony tail is rooted-in

I don't like to boast, but I'm really very talented. My sturdy plastic body is jointed at hips and knees so I can sit naturally in a chair, kneel on one or both knees, pose in almost any life-like position.

One of my attractions is my lovely, long Saran pony tail. It's extra thick and soft and so much fun to shampoo, brush and comb. I'm looking forward to all the different hair styles my new mommy will dream up for me.

My head is realistically molded vinyl plastic—soft and firm as real baby's skin. I've got flirty lashes and lively glassene eyes that open and close. I can even cry when you want me to. I wear a beautiful 3-petal effect organdy dress trimmed with lace, corsages and bows. Full lace-trimmed slip, rayon panties, shoes and socks. Mailable.

Chris-Craft's 18-foot Fiesta (right) has a big cabin that can be equipped with twin berths, galley and toilet. Design of the cabin gives occupants full sitting headroom. Fifty horsepower outboards or inboards up to 75 h.p. can be used to bring speeds to 30 m.p.h. The Fiesta is offered as a prefabricated kit. Easy-to-follow assembly instructions assure finished boats that reflect good workmanship

The cabin structure on the 18-foot Voyager Hardtop Day Cruiser (right) is of aluminum. Built by Larson Watercraft, Inc., Little Falls, Minn., she can be driven by motors to 25 h.p. She's one of the Crestliner fleet

Olympia Yachts Division of U-Mak-It Products, Bronx, N. Y., builds the hull of their model 018 (above) of five-ply 7/16-inch mahogany, deck white cedar strip-planked and cabin superstructure of African mahogany. Cabin facilities include two berths, space-saving toilet and sink combination, and large utility stowage compartment

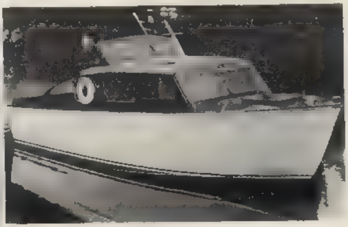
Above: The Ladd-Built 17-foot Cruisette (above) is available as a kit but with the hull assembled at the factory to insure a seaworthy boat. Factories are at Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Stockton, Calif. The boats are also available ready for painting or, if wanted, completely finished

Left. The 20-foot Commander is built by Bryant's Marina, Inc., Seattle, Wash. Two of the new silent 25 h.p. outboards provide speeds in the 25-30 m.p.h. range. There's a light, airy cabin to make her a comfortable cruising boat, and a big cockpit for pleasure day trips or water-skiing

Silent outboard motors create an entirely new concept of boating pleasure in cruising craft

Left: This 20-footer built by Revel Craft, Arnold, Md., has two bunks, enclosed toilet, complete galley and 6- by 8-foot cockpit. Bunks are equipped with foam rubber mattresses. Side windows are sliding, cabin windshield full opening. Sheer moldings are aluminum

Left: Barbour's 21-foot Overniter can be powered with one or two outboards or, if preferred, with single or twin screw inboard engines. They're built at New Bern, North Carolina, and have been completely redesigned



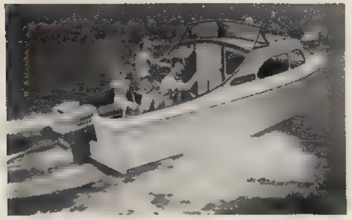
Above: The Hide-a-way is one of four 21-foot Scottie-Craft models built by International Shipbuilding Corp., Miami, Fla. Two of the models are outboard cruisers, two are inboard-powered. An 18-footer is also available

Above: The 16-foot Du-Craft Waterbug is of plywood construction with mahogany trim. In this particular installation the power plant is twin-screw outboard, using a pair of 15 h.p. motors, although a single 25 h.p. motor would make a highly satisfactory installation. Twin screws bring to outboard cruisers all the advantages of this type of powering achieved in the inboards

Right: Still another type of hull construction for the outboard cruiser is exemplified by this Shell Lake (Wis.) Lady Gull model. Hull in this case is strip-planked and the power a single motor of 25 h.p.

OUTBOARD CRUISERS BRING THE JOY OF CRUISING DOWN INTO THE SMALLER BUDGET BRACKETS

Tomahawk Boat Mfg. Corp.'s Sweet 16 Camping Cruiser sleeps two on cushions with space for portable stove



The F-180 Flying Cloud is an outboard cruiser designed by U-Mak-It Products for home assembly. Weighs 870 pounds, has two bunks and also available as an inboard

The Topper (above) Chesapeake Bay-built in Baltimore. She's a 19-footer with two full-length bunks, galley, toilet, well ventilated cabin, and soundproofed, watertight engine compartment. Speeds up to 20 m.p.h. with a standard 25 h.p. outboard motor

The Owens 21-foot express cruiser (left) is a roomy model sleeping two or three. The same boat is available as an inboard. Although the cost has been kept low, the 21 is built to the same standards of quality as larger Owens models

This Albatross 20, (right) built by the Mac Bay Boat Company, illustrates well how the outboard cruiser of today can be designed to resemble, in miniature, the larger inboard cruisers. This particular 20-footer is built of molded plywood and is driven by a 25 h.p. motor, the popular power choice for many of the outboard cruiser models. Note the canopy

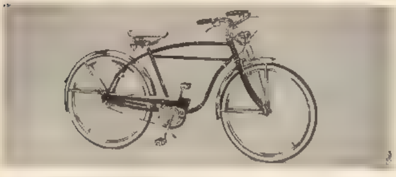
REAL 2-SPEED TRANSMISSION IS BIGGEST PEDAL CAR ADVANCEMENT IN DECADE

For almost unbelievable pedaling ease, top models in the new AMF line of cars and tractors can actually be shifted from low to high gear. Child starts out in low (1-to-1 gear ratio) and shifts into high (2-to-1 gear ratio). Gears are strip-proof and are operated by an automobile type gear shift lever.

In addition to the new 2-speed gear shift, the new AMF line introduces a greatly improved rear end chain drive pedaling principle This new development eliminates the "dead spot" found in the conventional 'round and round pedaling cycle These new developments combine to make the new AMF cars and tractors the easiest-to-pedal play vehicles of their kind in the world

Styling of the new AMF line is also outstanding. Longer, lower lines, authentic features and beautiful finishes make them as handsome as they are easy to ride

AMF ROADMASTER Introduces Complete New 1.75 Tire Flying Falcon Line



AMF ROADMASTER Flying Falcon with new Bendix Power Brake.

Important new styling, new features and more models highlight the new Flying Falcon middleweight bicycle series. Pounds lighter, beautifully trim and streamlined, the forks, fenders and frame of the new Falcons have been redesigned to take full advantage of the new longer coasting 1.75 middleweight tire The first bike to combine lightweight construction and true cushion ride, the Flying Falcon is one of the most imitated bikes ever made in America

This year, according to Frank H. Cankar, Sales Manager for AMF ROADMASTER, this tremendously popular line has been expanded to include both 26" and 24" boy's and girl's models. Both boy's and girl's styles are available in a choice of Bendix Multi-Speed Power Brake or standard coaster brake models.

JUNIOR "Sulky" Sets Design Trend

The sensational new AMF JUNIOR "Sulky".

A vision of "things to come" in velocipedes is apparent in the new AMF JUNIOR "Sulky" trike. Sleek straight lines give this model a speedy, sports-styled look that is totally different from any other velocipede. New inside mounted rear wheels, chrome mounting stirrups and a racing saddle accentuate the lively appearance of the "Sulky." Other "Sulky" features include an attractive front fender ornament and a sulky whip.

Available in the 12" front wheel size, the "Sulky" has a ball bearing front wheel and semi-pneumatic puncture proof tires. Finish is horizon blue enamel with white wheels. Saddle is two-tone red and white. Handlebar is chrome plated with red grips.

BMC Name Change to AMF Juvenile Wheel Goods Pleases Dealers

"Changing the name of our line to AMF Juvenile Wheel Goods makes sales sense to dealers," reports Philip Forman, Vice President in Charge of Sales for the BMC Manufacturing Corp.

"BMC is a subsidiary of American Machine & Foundry Company. Associating our cars and tractors as closely as possible with AMF—the nation's leading wheel goods manufacturer—is a distinct sales advantage to our dealers. In discussing this point with many of our customers, I find them in complete agreement," continued Mr. Forman

AMF ROADMASTER Simplifies Bike Repair And Service

The drop-out rear fork is standard on all AMF ROADMASTER bicycles for 1955. With this simplified mounting, the rear wheel may be removed simply by loosening two outside nuts. Removal of the fender and luggage rack strut nuts is no longer necessary. The drop-out rear fork gives new ease to rear wheel and brake repair and maintenance

JUNIOR TOY Marks Silver Anniversary With Greatest Line Ever

"To commemorate our 25th anniversary, we are presenting the most appealing line in our history," reports Ray A. Boos, newly elected Vice-President in Charge of Sales for Junior Toy Corp

"Style, features, accessories and quality construction are more important today than ever before. Modern youngsters look at a velocipede or sidewalk bike in the same way that their parents look at a new car," Mr. Boos continued 'It must have streamlined, modern design and the more 'plus' features, the better. In addition to merely 'something to ride', the AMF JUNIOR Silver Anniversary line offers the child a whole new world of extra imagination and action appeal."

THE FLASHING NEW "JACK & JILL"

Now you can offer real "big bike" looks in a sidewalk bike! Note the new Flite-Line tank and chain guard—tank swings open to make a tool compartment. And this easy-riding beauty is quickly convertible to a girl's model! 14" and 16" wheel sizes.

More of what everyone wants—that's the AMF Wheel Goods story for 1955. When you sell AMF you sell the line that's first in advanced design—first in appealing new features that no other line can offer. This year again, AMF is far out in front with the selling features that make customers buy!

Hallmark

Cultured Pearls

Like Oriental pearls, all Hallmark cultured pearls are grown in living oysters. Culled from the perilous depths of shark-haunted seas, these oysters are skillfully planted with a tiny pellet which the oyster then gradually coats with lustrous layers of nacreous material. Thus, after many a year, the cultured pearl is born—a magnificent jewel of eternity, the pride of princes, the preference of smart women.

Cultured Pearl Necklaces

QUALITY OF NECKLACE VARIES WITH EACH STYLE NUMBER

The quality—and therefore the price of Hallmark Cultured Pearl Necklaces is determined by degree of perfection of the pearls that make up the string, the depth of their lustre, their roundness, their careful matching, and the value of the clasp (indicated by the key letters). All necklaces are hand-knotted between each cultured pearl to reduce the danger of loss through breakage. All have safety clasps.

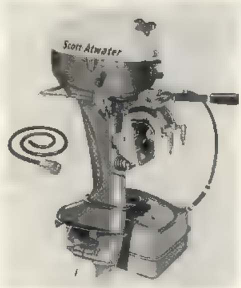
Scott Atwater

Featuring Bail-a-matic, automatic boat bailer, Scott-Atwater's 16 h.p. outboard has been redesigned for quieter operation



Scott-Atwater's new 10 h.p. outboard motor features a completely underwater exhaust. It also has Bail-a-matic

SCOTT-ATWATER

A complete line of outboard motors, incorporating new features contributing to quieter, safer and more powerful operation, was introduced recently by the Scott-Atwater Manufacturing Company of Minneapolis.

Consisting of six models—the 3.6, 5, 7.5, 10, 16 and the new 30 horsepower motor—the Scott-Atwater 1955 line features a complete underwater exhaust, spring-mounted sound and vibration deadeners and the popular Bail-a-matic, automatic boat bailer. On the new "30" there is push-button electric starting, an intake silencer, auto-type dual exhaust and shift lock.

The new "30" is a powerful twin. Available in either electric or manual starting models, it reaches speeds up to 40 m.p.h. and incorporates a noise-reducing intake silencer that, combined with the underwater exhaust and spring mounts, makes it an exceptionally quiet motor—even at full speed.

Features of the "30" include an aqua mute exhaust. This is a valve that prevents water from backing into the exhaust chamber and eliminates need for relief ports. This is also a feature of the 5, 7.5, 10 and 16 horsepower models.

An intake silencer eliminates annoying sound of air rushing into the carburetor and muffles internal engine noise The hush-spring mount consists of spring mounting at both powerhead and boat bracket, that isolate motor vibration from the boat hull. This is also a feature of the 5, 7.5, 10 and 16 horsepower models.

Free-Flow V-Valves provide better motor performance at all speeds. A V-type reed box allows for the reed opening in the direction of the fuel flow from the carburetor, permitting an easy flow with little turbulence and allowing the motor to "breathe" more easily

A Safety-Zone Shift Lock is actuated by the shift lever, making it impossible to start in any gear except neutral or to shift gears at high speeds. In the automobile-type dual exhaust, separate exhaust passages for each cylinder eliminate exhaust contact with the piston walls.

Also available in the "30" is push-button electric starting, allowing for automobile-type operation, with a manual starter as standard equipment. This model has instant plug-in connections for the battery and starter panel. A model with manual starter only is also offered.

Another new feature available in all models except the 3.6 is the Snap-Off hood that exposes the powerhead for easy service and inspection by unfastening two clamps. Hoods are cushioned by rubber mounts for quiet.

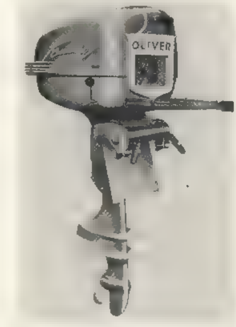
Other important features available in the 5, 7.5, 10, 16 and 30 h.p. models are: remote control connections, complete gearshift, seperate Stowaway fuel tank, Aquablade lower unit providing extra power, speed and economy, carburetor drain, and Bail-a-matic.

OLIVER

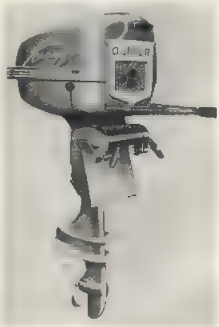
The Oliver Challenger 5½ h.p. outboard motor for 1955 features modernistic styling in metallic blue with off white and gold trim. The Challenger 5½ has an automotive type hood with push button release and a remote, 3½-gallon fuel tank. The Challenger incorporates a full, forward, neutral and reverse gear shift with a twist grip control which operates both the magneto and carburetor to insure balanced operation.

Important mechanical features of this motor include positive acting valves and an automatic type re-wind starter with 3-point contact for faster and easier starting. Smooth and efficient operation throughout its wide operating range is assured through even fuel distribution to both cylinders and a special fly wheel designed to give a longer moment inertion. A completely enclosed drive shaft eliminates corrosion during salt water use. The Challenger is equipped with a semi-weedless propeller. Noise level suppression is a basic design feature of the Challenger 5½ including spiral 3-point contact gears and a scientifically balanced crank shaft and fly wheel to insure smooth radial and reciprocating motion.

The Commander 15 h.p. outboard motor for 1955 is available in the same color styling as the 5½ h.p. model and incorporates all the features of the 5½ such as automotive type hood with push button release; 6-gallon fuel tank; full, forward, neutral and reverse gear shift with a twist grip control; positive acting valves and an automatic type re-wind starter with 3-point contact for faster and easier starting, etc.



On the new 15 h.p. Oliver Commander, noise level suppression is a basic feature. It has full forward, neutral and reverse gears with twist-grip control



Oliver's other new motor is the 5½ h.p. Challenger. It features the modernistic styling and many of the characteristics of its companion motor, the Commander

Right: Mercury's Mark 25 18 h.p., alternate twin is available with "turn-the-key" electric starting. It also features a new single line fuel system

MERCURY

Even more performance, increased quietness, electric starting on two models, and several important new safety features are the big news of the 1955 line of Mercury Outboard Motors made by the Kiekhaefer Corporation, Fond du Lac, Wis.

The ten models in the 1955 Mercury Outboard line include: The Mark 55 Mercelectric—40 h.p., 4-cylinder in-line engine with "turn the key" electric starting, and a complete 12-volt electrical system including a generator; the Mark 55—40 plus h.p., with manual starter; the Mark 25 Mercelectric, 18 h.p., alternate twin, available with "turn the key" 12-volt electrical starting; the Mark 25—18 h.p., manual starting alternate firing twin; the Mark 20—16 h.p. twin; the Mark 7—a 7½ h.p., alternate firing twin, and the Mark 6—a 5.9 h.p. twin.

Spearheading line is the mighty new Mark 55 Mercelectric. Added power and lighter weight for this model for 1955 comes from a new high compression, die-cast cylinder block and crankcase on the Thunderbolt 4-cylinder in-line powerhead. The new and greatly improved high output magneto contributes to the starting ease of this motor. It features a complete electric system. The 12-volt electric starting motor cranks the engine with the turn of a key. The integral generator keeps the battery fully charged and permits the operation of lights, horns, radio and other electrical necessities.

Electric starting will also be featured on the new Mark 25 Mercelectric, the 18 h.p. alternate twin. The push-button electric starting Mark 25 uses the same reliable lightweight 12-volt outboard starting motor developed by Kiekhaefer engineers. The engine can also be started either with the key switch on the engine or with the switch on the remote controls.

Left: The Mark 55 Mercelectric—a 40 h.p., four-cylinder, in-line engine with "turn-the-key" starting and a complete 12-volt electrical system including a generator. Manual starter available

The newly developed Acousti-Cowl, a sound absorbing principle, further silences the powerheads on the Mark 55, Mark 25 and Mark 6 models. Because Mercury Vari-timed reed valves are buried within the crankcase of the engines where the sound waves tend to cancel out each other, all Mercury engines are inherently quiet by design. The new cowl effectively blankets all other mechanical noises. New Dynaflex mounting is featured on the Mark 25 and the Mark 55 models. Both engines are strategically suspended in rubber, with no rigid connection between the engine and the clamping brackets. Power impulses and engine vibration are effectively insulated.

Single line fuel system, standard on the Mark 55, Mark 25 and Mark 6 engines for 1955 is an important new safety feature. Pressurized fuel tanks and lines are eliminated as the pump on the engine brings the fuel directly to the carburetor. This simplifies the construction and installation of remote custom-built tanks.

There are no shear pins to change in the Mercury Mark 20, Mark 25 or Mark 55 models, the Flo-Torq Safety Clutch eliminates this need. The safety clutch will slip should the propeller strike some underwater obstruction and even if the impact were severe enough to break a blade off of the propeller, the operator could still maintain maneuverability of his craft and get home.

The new super-silent Mark 6, a 5.9 h.p. alternate firing twin, weighing only 42 pounds, has remote fuel tanks, synchronized twistgrip throttle, 360-degree steering combined with push-button neutral and a swingback steering handle. Compact, light weight and easy to handle, it provides weed-free trolling.

For fishermen who prefer the integral type fuel tank, the light-weight 40-pound Mark will continue in the line. It is supplemented by the popular, reliable, all-around Mark 7, a 7½ h.p. alternate twin, popular with fishermen.

The versatile 16 h.p. Mark 20, a splendid performer for everything from a slow fisherman's troll to a thrilling water ski ride, rounds out the Mercury line.

All Mercury engines incorporate Full Jeweled power where anti-friction needle and ball and roller bearings apply to all moving parts on the crankshaft, connecting rods, driveshaft and propeller shaft and on the connecting rod crankpins and wrist pins. The result is a smooth power flow with all moving parts getting an anti-friction ride. All models have vari-timed valves for automatic correct valve timing at all operating speeds and insure quick starts. One piece "uni-cast" gear cases seal the lubricant in and the water out.

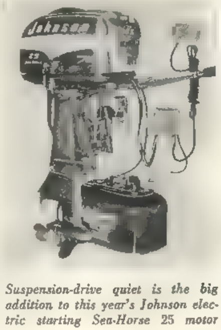
Waterproofed magnetos and waterproofed spark plugs function in fair or foul weather. Drop-forged micro-mounted connecting rods of chrome-nickel-moly steel, with roller bearings on the crankpins and wrist pins contribute smoothness to the engine.

All engines are cooled by the variable-volume, rubber rotor water pump.

JOHNSON SEA-HORSE

Quiet riding comfort, convenience and ease of operation are emphasized throughout Johnson's line of 1955 outboards. The firm's four larger motors (Sea-Horse 5½, 10, electric-starting 25 and standard 25) are all equipped with such advancements as "quiet" cushion-drive, twist-grip throttle, full-range gear shift (forward, neutral and reverse), and separate plug-in fuel tank. All are engineered for snap-on attachment of remote controls so that the boat may be driven like the family car.

Most significant new development is the quieting of the big-power models (10 and 25 horsepower) by the suspen-



Suspension-drive quiet is the big addition to this year's Johnson electric starting Sea-Horse 25 motor sion or cushion-drive system introduced on the 5½ a year ago. Of equal importance is the increased throb-free riding comfort through cushioning of engine vibration formerly transmitted to the boat. Another new convenience is a full-protection hood which may either be opened or wholly removed by touching two snap-fasteners.

Both the Sea-Horse 5½ and the smallest 3 have been additionally silenced by adoption of quieter gears.

Another new convenience on the 10 and 25s is a tilting lock which prevents motor tipping when speed is slowed, but releases automatically to prevent damage when the outboard strikes an underwater obstacle.

All five Johnson outboards are equipped with the firm's new "theft protection plug", a duplicate serial number system designed to make it impossible for a thief to offer a stolen motor for sale or service. All five motors have an anti-corrosion construction; flushing after salt-water use is not necessary.

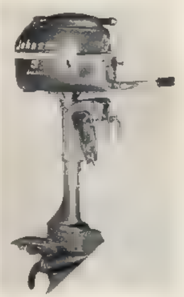
Leading accessories offered by Johnson are the Ship-Master throttle-and-shift remote control for snap-on operation with 5½, 10 and 25-horsepower motors; and the Fuel-Master gasoline pump system for 25-horsepower motors used with built-in fuel tanks.

Styling of the Sea-Horse 25s has been changed to conform in appearance with that of the Sea-Horse 10 and Sea-Horse 5½. Operating and oiling instructions on all 1955 models now are placed on top of the hood.

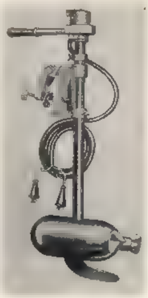
Silencing equipment on all models, in addition to cushion-drive, includes carburetor air intake silencers, underwater exhaust and exhaust relief silencers. The 10 and 25s also have sound-sealed hoods.

All motors are available both in standard and long-shaft models.

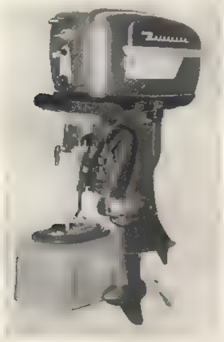
The Sea-Horse 25, electric starting, develops 25 horsepower with speeds from trolling to over 30 m.p.h. This model affords outboard luxury, with built-in push-button starter, full silencing equipment, remote control fittings, tilting lock and bumper to prevent damage from shock. Starter and choke operate on 6-volt automotive-type battery. Unit comes complete with control panel for boat dashboard, relay box and wiring.



Left: Weighing a scant 32 pounds, Johnson's Light Sea-Horse 3 develops 3 h.p. Anglematic drive and weedless design propeller make it ideal for shallow waters



Right: For silent trolling on inland lakes and rivers, there's the Silvertrol electric motor, made by Silver Creek Corp., Silver Creek, N. Y. Operating on one or two heavy-duty 6 or 12-volt storage batteries, it provides speeds of 2-3 mph



Gale Products' new 22 h.p. Bucaneer is available as a manual or electric starting motor. Gives speeds up to 25 m.p.h.

The motor has cushion-drive quiet, two-stage air intake silencer, underwater exhaust, exhaust relief silencer, sound-sealed hood, quiet gears; twist-grip throttle; separate 6-gallon Mile-Master fuel tank; 3-blade rubber-floated propeller; full-range gear shift (forward, neutral and reverse). Automatic rewind pull-cord (manual) starter retains intact for optional use. Weight is 128 pounds.

The Sea-Horse 25, standard, features horsepower, equipment and conveniences same as the above with the exception of electric-starter equipment. The weight is 114 pounds.

The Sea-Horse 10 develops 10 horsepower. With its wide speed and power range (slow trolling to over 20 m.p.h.) and moderate weight, this is a versatile motor, used extensively for both sport and commercial fishing. Weight is 70 pounds.

The Sea-Horse 5½ develops 5½ horsepower. The 1955 model is improved with quieter gears, snap fastener hood, and remote-control fittings. Primarily a fishing motor, it was rated a leading choice among resort operators in an independent survey. Speed range is from slow trolling to 12 m.p.h., the weight 47 pounds.

The Sea-Horse 3 develops 3 horsepower. This lightweight is a fisherman's favorite, particularly in smaller bodies of water and with children and elderly persons. Anglematic drive and weedless design propeller make it ideal for shallow, weedy or stump-infested waters. Quieting equipment includes intake silencer, quiet gears, underwater exhaust and exhaust relief silencer. Spark and throttle are synchronized in the lever for speed control. Full pivot reverse is provided. The weight is 32 pounds.

BUCCANEER

A new series of four outboard engines is being introduced by Gale Products of Galesburg, Ill., under the trade name Buccaneer. The smallest is a single cylinder of 3 h.p. produced in a deluxe model. The next larger is a 5 h.p. engine, built in both standard and deluxe varieties. Then comes a two cylinder 12 h.p. model and also a two cylinder 22 h.p. model, both in deluxe styles.

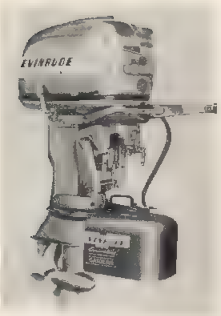
The small 3 h.p. engine is a single cylinder 2⅛ by 1½ inch of 5.32 cubic inch displacement, designed to run at 4,000 revolutions.

The 5 h.p. engines are two cylinder machines of 1-15/16 by 1½ inch bore and stroke, with 8.84 cubic inch displacement. These are also designed to turn 4,000 revolutions. Like the smaller engine they are rubber-mounted for vibration insulation and use an automatic rewind for starting. The standard model uses a rubber clutch in the propeller, while the deluxe model has a spring overload clutch without shear pins.

The 12 h.p. engine is also two cylinders with 2¼ by 2¼ inch bore and stroke, and a piston displacement of 17.89 cubic inches. Its weight is 66 pounds.

The largest 22 h.p. engine is also a two cylinder machine and will turn up to 4,000 revolutions. Its piston displacement is 32.6 cubic inches and it also carries a three-blade propeller. Depending on the style and size of boat 25 miles can be attained. This big engine weighs 110 pounds without the separate six-gallon fuel tank. This model has a rubber-floated propeller with a shear pin. The starting system is an automatic rewind, although an electric starting model is also available.

The smaller engines are both arranged for 360 degree full pivot steering control. The 5 h.p. deluxe and the two larger models are fitted with full gear shift, that is, neutral, forward, and reverse. The larger motors are also spring-mounted to provide vibration-free steering, and also synchronized spark and throttle control through twist-grip handle.



Evinrude's Big Twin, 25 h.p. motor gives speeds to 30 m.p.h. Featuring electric starting, it offers power for the larger cruisers, runabouts, etc.

EVINRUDE

A new principle of engine mounting, similar to that used in the aircraft industry, has been applied to four new outboard motors in the 1955 line of Evinrude Motors, Milwaukee, Wis. The new motors—from 7.5 to 25 horsepower—are among six different models which Evinrude will display at boat shows throughout the country.

The motors, introduced to the public in September, were engineered to meet an increased demand for quiet on the part of both boat-owners and dwellers in homes in shore front communities. Since their introduction, the motors have elicited considerable comment—from the press, marine industry and general public—in favor of their quiet-producing features.

It is the Evinrude aquasonic principle—soundproofing on water—which has been extended on the '55 models. The new development is based on the adaptation of resilient mountings for the powerhead and lower unit. The mountings absorb torsional and thrust vibrations at their source and prevent engine vibration from being transmitted to the boat, which would produce noise by acting as a sounding board.

The 1955 line—six motors—includes four aquasonic models, the 25 horsepower electric starting Big Twin, the 25 horsepower standard Big Twin, the 15 horsepower Fastwin, and the 7.5 horsepower Fleetwin. Fifth motor in the line is the versatile three horsepower Lightwin, with which Evinrude introduced carburetor air intake silencers as early step toward "whispering power." The sixth motor in the line is the Ducktwin, an adaptation of the Lightwin, painted the color of marsh grass and designed for use by duck hunters.

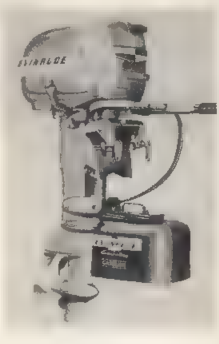
The 25 horsepower Big Twin offers the ideal power as a heavy-duty unit which at 4000-5000 r.p.m. delivers speeds from one to 30 m.p.h. When used with Evinrude Simplex remote controls, the electric starting Big Twin permits complete operation of the motor from any position in the boat. The starter panel carries buttons for both starter and electrically-operated choke, which is required only for "cold" starts.

The Big Twin is fitted with a special manual lock which holds the motor firmly in a fixed position during a sudden drop in speed. The lock, an innovation to the Big Twin, was added to prevent the motor from tilting forward during sudden deceleration. The lock automatically releases when the motor strikes an underwater obstacle.

Evinrude's 15 horsepower Fastwin is an all-purpose motor with a speed range of from one to 28 m.p.h. depending on boat weight and design. The Fastwin (which incorporates all the salient features of the Big Twin, with the exception of electric-starting) is adaptable for use with the Evinrude remote control system. The motor, which assures dependability while fishing, will troll down to one mile per hour without fouling.

Weighing only 49 pounds, the Evinrude Fleetwin is a 7.5 horsepower unit with the ability to troll at one mile per hour without fouling. The Fleetwin has been in constant demand by operators of boat liveries because its light weight and lack of vibration insure against damage to the transom.

The Evinrude Lightwin, which weighs only 32 pounds, is a three horsepower motor featuring Evinrude's Fisherman Drive, the angle of which makes it possible to run through thick marsh grass and weeds, without fouling the propeller. Its wedge-shaped skeg is designed to slide over rocks, sand, mud and other obstacles.

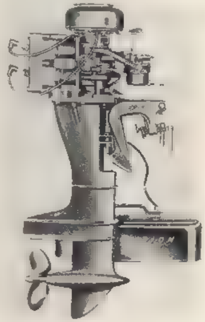


Evinrude's 15 h.p. Fastwin is an all-purpose motor incorporating all the salient features of the Big Twin except electric starting. Speeds to 28 m.p.h.

The Lightwin is designed with an integral gas tank. The mounting bracket permits 360-degree turning of the motor, providing forward through reverse positions.

The Lightwin is well adapted for a wide gamut of light-duty applications.

The Ducktwin, an adaptation of the Lightwin, blends the color of the motor with the color of marsh grass usually found near a duck blind. With its features identical to those of the Lightwin, the Ducktwin lends itself well to portage and its size makes it easy to stow in the luggage compartment of an automobile.



Champion Motors Company's new 16½ h.p. Blue Streak Hot Rod, for the speed enthusiasts, is 4 to 6 m.p.h. faster than previous models

CHAMPION

For 1955, Champion Motors Company of Minneapolis, Minnesota, offers a new 58-pound Blue Streak large-bore, short-stroke, anti-frictionized, 16½ h.p. motor, which has checked out at as high as 32 miles per hour on time trials. They also offer a new and long-needed innovation, a factory-unitized Midship Control Model for use only on steering-wheel-equipped cruisers and fast runabouts.

Special aircraft-type cable controls, built with the motor at the factory, connect directly to the motor magneto and power shift.

The control of all motor operations is positive and sure. Lag, friction, and extra linkage are completely eliminated. Midship Controls may be snapped on and snapped off to permit removal of motor from transom.

Champion also offers two new Blue Streak Hot Rod motors for speed enthusiasts. These check out at 4 to 6 miles faster than previous models of the same cubic inch displacement.

Other models in the 1955 Champion line include the Magic Wand equipped family favorite—Fishin' 7 and Fishin' 5 and the 3½ horsepower Guide Model.

Kneel on both knees

New Pla-mates Walk, Stand, Sit, Kneel

SOFT VINYL HEADS. ROOTED SARAN HAIR. OTHER EXCITING NEW FEATURES

Wards "Pla-Mate" Dolls, (A)–(D) on opposite page and (C) on Page 148 are every little girl's "dream doll" come true. They are outstanding in beauty, workmanship and play value, but moderately priced for dolls of their size and quality. Made for Wards by Paris, nationally known maker of fine dolls.

Pla-mates can Walk when held by the hand and guided—turning their heads from side to side as they walk. They can Kneel on one or both knees, Sit Naturally in a chair and assume many other lifelike positions. They can Stand alone, too.

Pla-mates' patented walking device is the best to be found for efficiency and sturdiness; has durable, all-metal parts—not plastic parts which break readily. It permits graceful, naturalistic motions yet is lightweight, completely concealed. It is guaranteed by the manufacturer against mechanical defects.

Pla-mates' bodies, molded of hard plastic, are practically unbreakable. Well-proportioned and jointed naturally at shoulders, hips and knees with no awkward breaks in the body. Bending knees lock into place smoothly—legs do not dangle.

Pla-mates have flesh-like soft vinyl plastic heads, exquisitely molded and delicately tinted; big glassene sleeping eyes with real lashes. Heads are securely attached, cannot come off.

Pla-mates' lovely, long Saran hair is "rooted"—permanently lock-stitched into their heads so it won't come out. Saran has the fine, silky texture of real hair, can be washed, combed, set.

Pla-mates' clothing is unusually beautiful—made of finest fabrics with exquisite styling, detailing and finishing. Pla-mate Dolls on this page are tissue-packed in attractive white Gift Boxes.

SOME FACTS ABOUT DOLLS THAT WILL HELP YOU IN CHOOSING A DOLL

The cost of a doll depends on the quality of materials and workmanship in bodies, heads, eyes, wigs and clothing. Wards dolls were carefully selected to bring you the best possible values in every type of doll and in every price range.

Doll Bodies. Plastic is used for many dolls today because it can be exquisitely modeled, is lightweight, practically unbreakable. Dolls that stand or walk are hard plastic. Soft Baby Dolls may be vinyl plastic or latex (soft rubber) stuffed with foam rubber or cotton. Drink-wet Dolls are vinyl or rubber that is durable and waterproof. This year most of Wards dolls have pliable soft vinyl heads—more lifelike, permit "rooted" hair.

Doll Eyes. Best are Glassene sleeping eyes (celluloid iris over a steel base) with real lashes. Some dolls have plastic inset or painted eyes. Lashes on inexpensive dolls are painted on.

Doll Wigs. Now most are made of synthetic fibers, like Saran, with sheen and texture of real hair; can be washed and combed without damage. On finest dolls hair strands are long, thick, prewaved. Fibers used for Wards doll wigs are tested for flame-resistance. Many dolls with soft vinyl heads have "rooted" hair; Wards "rooted hair" is permanently lockstitched in heads, can't come out. Hair on dolls with hard plastic heads is sewn to cloth foundation. Lambskin wigs on "drink-wet" dolls are "washable" with damp cloth. Mohair wigs on miniatures not washable.

Doll Clothing. Varies in fabric, fitting and finishing. Finest dolls have clothing of best quality fabrics with dainty trim. Finishing is detailed; dresses have snaps or button closings.

Tots with Lifelike Vinyl Heads

ABOUT "ROOTED" HAIR. The unusually thick, luxuriant hair on all these dolls except "Sweater Baby" is firmly lock-stitched right into the doll's head so that it can't come out, no matter how much it is played with—makes them perfect for children who like to comb, wave and arrange their doll's hair. And, the hair is thick, glossy and pre waved, not straight as in cheaper wigs. Wards has selected only dolls with hair rooted by a special process that assures its permanency and will last and remain attractive as long as the doll itself. See Page 146 for Facts About Dolls. Terms, Page 105.

AMERICAN FLYER Transformers

No. 183 Train Power Controller

No. 308 DUAL TRAIN POWER CONTROLLER, WITH DOUBLE CIRCUIT BREAKERS 34.95
RATING: 300 WATTS, 115 VOLTS, 60 CYCLES, A. C.
The finest electric train power controller you can buy! Can run two trains at different speeds on separate loops of track — FOUR trains (two running at same speeds) on two separate loops. Has full directional control — when train stops, it will start up again without going into reverse first. Two panel meters indicate voltage — one for each control. Transformer has "Dead Man's Control." When throttle is let go, train halts. Operation is guarded by two circuit breakers — one for trains, one for accessories — which shut off power if overloads or short occurs.

No. 19B TRAIN POWER CONTROLLER, WITH CIRCUIT BREAKER 29.95
RATING: 300 WATTS, 115 VOLTS, 60 CYCLES, A. C.
It's more than a transformer — it's a real model railroad power controller. It gives you full control of direction; when train stops it starts again in same direction without going into reverse first. Panel meters indicate voltage and amperage. Has exclusive "Dead Man's Control" — when the throttle is let go train halts. Built-in Circuit Breaker shuts off power if transformer is overloaded or if a short develops. Has [illegible] switch.

No. 16B TRAIN POWER CONTROLLER, WITH CIRCUIT BREAKER 19.95
RATING: 175 WATTS, 115 VOLTS, 60 CYCLES, A. C.
Same as No. 19B Transformer described above except is without panel meters and has lower output.

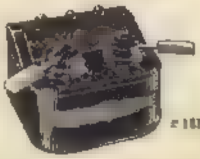
No. 15B Train Power Controller

Dual Train Power Controller with Double Circuit Breaker (No. 18B)

No. 16B Train Power Controller

No. 12 Circuit Breaker

No. 43 Transformer



#18B DUAL CONTROLLER w/Circuit Breaker

No. 18B DUAL TRAIN POWER CONTROLLER, WITH DOUBLE CIRCUIT BREAKER 26.50
RATING: 175 WATTS, 115 VOLTS, 60 CYCLES, A. C.
Two circuit breakers guard transformer against short circuit damage or overload. Has exclusive "Dead Man's Control" and permits full directional operation. Can run two trains on separate track loops at different speeds.

No. 15B TRAIN POWER CONTROLLER, WITH CIRCUIT BREAKER 16.50
RATING: 150 WATTS, 115 VOLTS, 60 CYCLES, A. C.

PALMER

Two new engines built by Palmer Engine Co., Cos Cob, Conn., will take advantage of the engineering advances, production and service facilities of the International Harvester Company. The ruggedness of International Harvester products and economy has been well-known for a long time among farmers and truckers. This will be the first time International engines have taken to the water.

The first engine is a small, powerful, four cylinder, to be known as the Palmer 60. It will be built in two types: the Palmer Huskie 60—16 h.p. at 2400 r.p.m. and a high compression, high r.p.m. Palmer Whippet 60—22 h.p. at 3000 r.p.m. Both have sturdy counterbalanced crankshaft, precision bearings, lifetime Palmer manifold and oil filter-cooler cast into the block. Both weigh approximately 350 pounds and measure only 28¾ inches in length. This small four will replace the two cylinder HH which has been built for many years by Palmer.

The second new engine will be known as the Palmer 240, and will be built in a Huskie 240 (90 h.p. at 2400 r.p.m.) and in the Whippet 240 (115 h.p. at 3200 r.p.m.). The 240 is a light, fast, six cylinder, overhead valve engine. The Huskie 240 will be of great interest to commercial boatmen since its overhead valve design will allow an inexpensive valve job.

The Palmer 60 (above) is built in two types, the Palmer Huskie 16 h.p. at 2400 r.p.m., and Palmer Whippet 22 h.p. at 3000 r.p.m. They weigh approximately 350 pounds

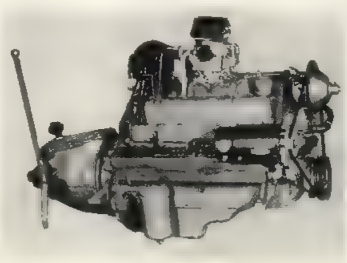
BARR MARINE

Barr Marine Products Company of Philadelphia, Pa., in following the trend to the V8 type engine, has added eleven new models to their line this year. Among the new models are the following: Buick V8, 143 h.p. at 4200 r.p.m. and 177 h.p. to 200 h.p. at 4100 r.pm.; Chevrolet V8, 162 h.p. at 4400 r.p.m. (Also 180 h.p.); Chrysler V8, 235 h.p. at 4400 r.p.m.; Cadillac V8, 230 h.p. at 4400 r.p.m.; Dodge V8, 150 h.p. at 4400 r.p.m.; DeSoto V8, 170 h.p. at 4400 r.p.m.; Ford V8, 130 h.p. at 4200 r.p.m.; Lincoln V8, 170 h.p. to 205 h.p. at 3800 to 4200 r.p.m.; Mercury V8, 161 h.p. at 4400 r.p.m.; and Oldsmobile Rocket V8, 185 h.p. at 4000 r.p.m.

With the addition of these new engines, they are now in a position to offer complete engines and kits for over 44 different model engines, ranging in horsepower from the 60 h.p. Willys to the 230 h.p. Chrysler and Cadillac.

The company is now manufacturing a complete and diversified line of marine conversions and parts, including such items as water-cooled exhaust manifolds (cast iron), water pumps (rubber impeller type), marine type reverse and reduction gears with the necessary adapters and flywheel housings for various model engines, transmission conversions, oil seals, thrust bearings, bronze and monel propeller shafting and underwater hardware.

Right: Another V-8, the Barr Buick conversion, 4-inch bore by 3.2-inch stroke, 322 cubic inch piston displacement, 200 h.p. at 4100 r.p.m. Equipped with Barr marine reverse gear and available also with reduction gears. Barr has added eleven new models to its line this year



VIMALERT

The Vimalert Company, Inc., 807 Garfield Avenue, Jersey City, N. J., announces the latest model of its U. S. Government approved marine conversion of the Allison V-1710 aircraft engine.

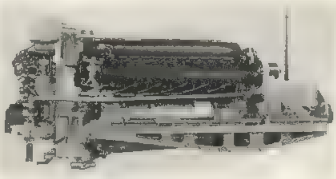
The V-1710-5 is rated 1000h.p. at 2600 r.p.m., conservatively lower than the aviation ratings of the same engine. Reverse power rating is 300 h.p. at 1650 r.p.m. The engine can be adapted to a range of ratings from 400 h.p. up.

The conversion is extremely light and compact, weighing 2250 pounds dry, ready to run, or 2¼ pounds per horsepower, including oil cooler, heat exchangers, electrical equipment and all accessories. Overall length is 96 inches, while width is 46 inches, including exhaust manifolds.

Right-or left-hand rotation is available. For high speed craft, such as racing boats, express cruisers, runabouts, or patrol, rescue, or crash boats, the drive is direct. Reduction gears can be added for low propeller r.p.m., making the conversion suitable for slow-speed craft, and work boats.

Vimalert will supply the complete conversion, the conversion kits, or will modify the customer's engines either in the Vimalert plant or on the customer's premises. Because of the size and flexibility of the unit, Vimalert is prepared to undertake practically any type of special installation.

Below: The Vimalert conversion of the Allison aircraft engine. This motor puts out 1000 h.p. at 2600 r.p.m., conservatively less than aviation ratings for the engine



STOKES MARINE SUPPLY

The Stokes Marine Supply Company, Coldwater, Mich., have prepared a new catalog for 1955. This booklet illustrates and describes their full line of converted marine engines. They are in a position to supply conversion kits for practically any automotive engines and are also able to engineer conversions for any engines the customer wishes.

Their catalog further illustrates the full line of marine hardware and equipment which they are prepared to supply. Catalog is available to readers on request.

Lehman's JG V-8 develops 130 h.p., the JH, 140 h.p. Reduction gears up to 3-to-1 can be had 404 cubic inch six is available not only for larger cruisers, but also for commercial craft where a power-takeoff clutch is required.

The Sea-Farer Special delivers 225 h.p. This large six has made an impressive record in powering larger cruisers and heavy work boats.

The Sea-Raider six with its 779 cubic inch piston displacement is designed to provide 280 h.p. at 2,450 r.p.m. Its sustained high power output makes it particularly suited for large runabouts, large cruisers and fast commercial craft. The Sea-Raider Special 12-cylinder V-type 580 h.p. engine holds top spot in the horsepower range. The Kermath two-cylinder Diesel 2-127, developing 27 h.p. at 1,800 r.p.m., has proven a very satisfactory power plant for large auxiliaries as well as husky commercial craft. The Model 4-226 four-cylinder Diesel produces excellent power with economical fuel consumption. The Kermath Model 6-298 4-cycle, solid injection Diesel is a conservative six that will give continuous service with a minimum of maintenance. It is rated 75 h.p. at 2,200 r.p.m. Model 6-259 Diesel is built to deliver 130 h.p. at 1,800 r.p.m. for continuous service. It is well-suited to small tugs or large pleasure craft. The Kermath Model 6-935 Diesel develops 190 h.p. at 1,600 r.p.m. for continuous service. with a maximum of 250 h.p. available for intermediate usage.

LEHMAN ECON-O-POWER

The Lehman Manufacturing Company of Newark, N. J., offers a complete line of overhead valve marine engines—4, 6 and V8 cylinders. This design gives great engine efficiency, more power with less displacement and improved fuel economy. The cam shaft and valves are on top for easy servicing and adjustment.

The largest engine in the Econ-O-Power line is model EAD rated 205 h.p. at 4200 r.p.m. This is the 317 cubic inch Lincoln engine. Complete dry weight is only 1008 pounds, length under 46 inches. Snow-Nabstedt reverse gear is used, with water-jacketed reduction gears obtainable up to 3-to-1. Reverse rotation, for twin-screw installations, may be had in reduction models. Model JB is a heavy-duty version of the EAD rated 170 h.p. at 3800 r.p.m.

Two additional V8 engines are offered Model JH is 256 cubic inch displacement and develops 140 h.p. at 4000 r.p.m. Model JG is 239 cubic inch and is rated 130 h.p. at 4000 r.p.m. Water-jacketed reduction gears are available up to 3-to-1 ratio.

Model JF is a 6 cylinder, overhead valve type, 3.62 inch bore by 3.60 stroke, with 223 cubic inches displacement, developing 115 h.p. at 3900 r.p.m. This model has all the features of the V8's listed above—free turning valves, full-flow oil filter, full-length water jackets, etc. It has down-draft carburetion.

Lehman offers a 6 cylinder, "L" head engine for those primarily interested in lowest initial cost. This economy model is known as Model 8M and is built from the Ford 6 cylinder L-head engines. Rated 110 h.p. at 3600 r.p.m. this engine is 254 cubic inches with 3.5 inch bore by 4.4 inch stroke. A full line of reduction ratios is available.

Four cylinder overhead valve engines are produced in two models—134 cubic inch, which develops 48 h.p. at 2700 r.p.m. and a 172 cubic inch model of 60 h.p. at 2600 r.p.m.

A special low cost model is the 4 cylinder Jeep conversion built from the military type engine with modern improvements. This is an "L" head engine of 3⅛ inch bore by 4⅜ inch stroke—134 cubic inches. It develops 60 h.p. at 3600 r.p.m. and is ideal for kit boats.

For those who wish to assemble their own engine. Lehman can have a basic engine shipped direct from the Detroit factory. Conversion parts are shipped from the Lehman plant at Newark, N. J. They can supply the proper conversion for all Ford, Mercury or Lincoln engines back to 1928. A copy of Lehman's new catalog is forwarded free upon request to Lehman Manufacturing Company, 972 Broad Street, Newark 2, N. J.

DEARBORN INTERCEPTOR

A new development in marine power units is announced by Dearborn Marine Engines, Inc., Detroit, Mich. Their interceptor series consists of four V-8 valve-in-head marine engines of 125, 140, 155 and 175 h.p.

Safety, lighter weight and compactness with improved all-around performance were prime objectives. Principal safety features are incorporated in the carburetion, crankcase breathing and intake manifolding.

The air intake to the carburetors and the crankcase ventilating system are integral and located under the carburetors within the V formed by the cylinder block. Vapors or raw fuel are confined within the intake system. Design also provides a means of immediately drawing off external leakage. These features give complete protection from accumulation of vapors or raw fuel in the engine compartment or bilge. In addition, the system provides protection against introduction of any foreign elements.

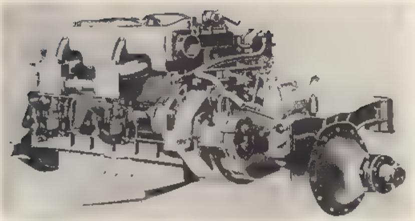
The plant is confined to a length of 39½ inches, width of 26¾ inches, a height above crankshaft line of only 16¼ inches and a depth of 10 inches.

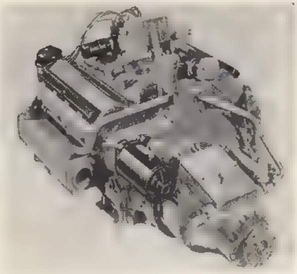
The reverse gear has a 1.48 to 1 ratio and is a self-contained hydraulic unit. When reverse is used it is not necessary to accelerate the motor. Interceptor control permits shifting from full forward to full reverse in 4/5 second.

Reduction gears are available from 1.5:1 to 3.5:1 ratios. The output shaft of the reduction gear is at a 10 degree angle which in most instances makes water-level mounting possible. The reduction gear provides opposite rotation for twin screws and will permit a V drive as an integral part of the engine.

The 12 volt electrical system is automatically regulated and includes fully enclosed starter and generator and a moisture-proof ignition system.

Interceptor engines weigh from 635 pounds to 675 pounds—as low as 3.61 pounds per horsepower—and maximum output is 4,000 r.p.m. engine speed.





Above: Chrysler's 6-cylinder Majestic M-49. A wide choice of reduction gears and Vee-drives is available. Right: Newest Chrysler model is the Royal V Special M-44S rated at 150 h.p.

CHRYSLER

The Chrysler marine engine line for 1955 will be augmented by an additional engine—a V-8. This follows only a year after the 200 h.p. Chrysler Imperial V Special made its appearance and will employ the same hemispherical combustion chamber, short-stroke, low-friction design. The new engine is designated the Royal V Special (M 44S) and is rated 150 h.p. at 3,800 r.p.m. Like the Imperial Special, the new V-8 mounts on standard 22½-inch centers.

The Royal V Special will fit virtually any boat capable of taking an inboard 6- or 8-cylinder marine engine. Dimensions for the Royal V Special (straight drive) are 44 11/16 inches long, 32½ inches wide and 21¼ inches high.

Feature advantages include overhead laterial valving with larger and wider spaced valves; completely water-jacketed cylinders; free-flow intake and exhaust porting; fully enclosed oil lines; and centered spark plugs.

Chrysler Marine Engine Division also announced other changes including a step-up in horsepower of the Chrysler Ace from 92 to 95 h.p. at 3,200 r.p.m., the Ace Special going from 105 to 110 h.p. at 3,600 r.p.m. Stroke dimension for both engines is now 4⅝ inches.

Other engines in the line are the Crown (115 h.p. at 3,200 r.p.m.), the Crown Special (125 h.p. at 3,600 r.p.m.), and the Majestic (160 h.p. at 3,000 r.p.m.).

Reduction gears for the entire line are internal gear and pinion type with helical teeth. All gears are mounted on large ball bearings with centers adjustable to insure proper adjustment and quiet operation; available in 1.43, 2.04, 2.56, 3.17 or 3.95 to 1 reduction. Vee-drives are available in 1.13, 1.42 or 2.05 to 1 reduction.

Additional features have been added this year including three water-jacketed exhaust assemblies; a single outlet assembly for in-line 6-cylinder engines, and optional single or dual outlet for V-8's.

OSCO MOTORS

Going into 1955 season Osco Motors Corporation of Philadelphia has come up with four new series of Osco Marined Ford engines . . . all overhead valve types.

Of the four series one is the 115 h.p. OHV-6 of 223 cubic inches. The remaining three series are V-8 engines of 140, 170 and 205 h.p. with 239, 256 and 317 cubic inches displacement respectively.

For those who elect to convert the new Ford engines to marine form at their own shops, Osco's line of Convo kits, reversing gears, reduction gears and accessories has been expanded to cover the new and higher powered Ford engine.

Osco continues to manufacture its diesel engine line as well as Convo equipments for their Ford and Jeep line.

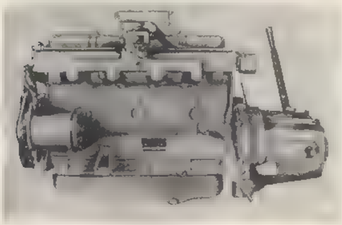
MICHIGAN MARINE

The Michigan Marine Motor Company of Coldwater, Michigan, produce a number of small engines. Their Junior Four is a four cylinder 2⅝ by 3 bore and stroke engine, which is rated at 25 h.p. and weighs only 300 pounds. In the two-cylinder models, their Senior Twin develops 15 h.p. with two cylinders 3¼ by 4 inches in bore and stroke. Its weight is 290 pounds.

A larger and more powerful engine, the Senior Four has the same cylinder sizes as the Senior Twin, that is, 3¼ by 4. It develops 60 h.p. at top revolutions on a weight of 425 pounds and is regularly fitted with a Paragon reverse gear. The largest of Michigan's engines is the Senior Six, designed for higher speeds in runabouts and cruisers. It is small in size so that it will fit where space is limited. Its cylinder dimensions are 3-7/16 by 4⅛ and it is rated at 92 h.p. at 3,200 revolutions. It weighs only 625 pounds and is supplied with a Paragon reverse gear. It is well adapted to runabouts and light cruisers.

Michigan also supplies a 6 h.p. single cylinder air-cooled engine suitable for small, light fishing and utility boats. This engine can also be applied to various auxiliary purposes, such as lighting plants, pumps, etc.

Conversion kits for most of the popular automotive engines are also listed.

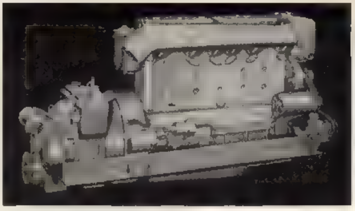


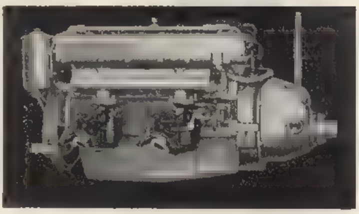
Osco Motors Corporation's overhead valve Osco Marined Ford 6-cylinder 115 h.p. engine has 223 c.i. displacement

The Michigan Junior 4, 25 h.p., 300 pounds, designed for small runabouts, light cruisers and auxiliaries up to 40 feet system with constant voltage generator. A companion engine with single carburetor is Model 185, rated 185 h.p. at 3400 r.p.m.

Other gasoline engines in the Gray line include the smaller 4 and 6 cylinder engines which are widely used in stock boats, with ratings amply spaced over the 25, 45, 60, 75, 100, 115 and 135 h.p. range, built both in 3200 r.p.m. styles for heavier boats, and 3600 r.p.m. styles for runabouts. The heavy-duty distributor and waterproof ignition cables which were adopted last year are continued as standard on all models. Gray's patented Thermogard temperature control valve is standard on additional models. Fresh water cooling system with centrifugal circulating pump is available on all models. Available equipment includes Gray's water-cooled exhaust elbow, hydraulic reverse gear, a new power shaft attachment for standard manual-type reverse gear, improved radio shielding, and other accessories.

Gray's 200 h.p. Diesel Six — D802 — goes into production this spring. Designed for cruisers and work-boats, it develops 200 h.p. at 2200 r.p.m. on a piston displacement of 802 cubic inches. Gray diesels are now available in a range from 30 to 200 h.p.





Gray's model 165 and model 175 (shown at the left) are two completely new gasoline engines. Single carbureter 165 develops 165 h.p. at 3400 r.p.m., dual carbureter 175 develops 175 h.p. at 3400 r.p.m. Both have a piston displacement of 363 cubic inches

Newest addition to Gray's expanding Diesel series is a big 802 cubic inch Six, rated 200 h.p. at 2200 r.p.m. This has design and general appearance identical with that of the lightweight 100 h.p. developed originally for the U. S. Navy, and this design is also repeated in the streamlined 135 h.p. 572 cubic inch model. Smaller models include 30 h.p. and 50 h. p. sizes, both 4-cylinder.

The Gray Engineering Department has been expanded in size, as has the Experimental Test Laboratory.

KERMATH

Kermath Manufacturing Company of Detroit, Mich., a subsidiary of Barium Steel Corporation, presents a line of gasoline engines ranging from 5 to 580 h.p., including the Model 60 Hydrojet, and a broad line of diesel engines in a range from 27 to 250 h.p. Major changes have been announced in three models and two new gasoline models designated as the Sea-Prince Special 105 h.p. and the Sea-Rover Special 145 h.p. have been added. Refined and improved by redesign are the Sea-Pup, Sea-Twin and Sea-Prince. A new price schedule indicates substantial price reductions. Most models offer a wide choice of reduction gear ratios.

The 5 h.p. single cylinder Sea-Pup and the 10 h.p. two-cylinder Sea-Twin have gained wide acceptance. The 1955 Sea-Pup models have been improved by use of standard S.A.E. flange-mounted magnetos. The water pump has been redesigned and relocated so that it is accessible for easier adjustment. The Sea-Twin has proved popular in small auxiliaries. Improved in a manner similar to that employed with the Sea-Pup and with further refinements in balancing integral parts assures smoother operation. An improved carburetor will be incorporated in the new engine.

The 1954 four-cylinder Sea-Cub, weighing less than 300 pounds and measuring less than 30 inches long, is available both in direct drive and with reduction gears. The 134 cubic inch Sea-Jeep is designed to provide up to 61 h.p. at 3.600 r.p.m. A power-takeoff clutch is available. Magneto ignition can also be had.

The 230 cubic inch Sea-Prince is new from flywheel to coupling. Overall length is 40 inches, making it one of the shortest small 6-cylinder engines built. The new high-lift camshaft, larger capacity oil pump, improved main and connecting rod bearings reflect the many improvements in this model. Dual distributor ignition or combination magneto and distributor ignition are available. This small six provides 95 h.p. at 3,600 r.p.m.

The Sea-Prince Special is a new addition. This engine has a bore of 3 7/16 inches and a stroke of 4¼ inches, rated 105 h.p. at 3,600 r.p.m.

The Sea-Rover for 1955 supplies qualities which appeal to the commercial fisherman, tug boat and barge operators and other work boat owners, while the smooth efficiency of this 320 cubic inch six gives it particular appeal for pleasure cruiser owners. The new Sea-Rover Special is a 339 cubic inch piston displacement power plant which has the same external dimensions as the standard Sea-Rover. This engine is rated 145 h.p. at 3,000 r.p.m.

The Sea-Mate Special features a slow-speed water pump arrangement and improved coolant circulation system. This

UNIVERSAL

In presenting its selective offering of six cylinder marine engines, Universal Motor Company, Oshkosh, Wisconsin, emphasizes its many new, fully modern models. All are in the medium-high speed range and feature exceptional output for their size and weight.

The Super-Six Commodore delivers 145 horsepower turning at 3200 r.p.m. It measures only 45 inches overall and weighs just 890 pounds. It's a 340 cubic inch engine with 7-bearing crankshaft and standard 12-volt ignition. Large, deep water jackets and chrome-nickel alloy iron corrosion-resistant castings are features.

The Super-Six Stevedore is the next Universal big-power six. This model produces 130 horsepower at 2800 r p.m. and combines the same design compactness and light weight. This is the model for extra-heavy boats.

The Master Six, a 105 horsepower, 237 cubic inch marine engine, combines low weight with small size. It tips the scales at less than 700 pounds fully equipped Over-all size is under 41 inches. Its 7-bearing crankshaft is dymetrically balanced for vibration-free, wear-reducing performance. Timing gears are shaved and helical cut for silent operation. Rubber mountings, built-in sump pump are standard features.

The Explorer Six was engineered especially for the popular kit boats and other light-hull craft in the cruiser and runabout classes. It develops 95 horsepower with great fuel economy. The Explorer Six is a 230 cubic inch model with an operating speed of 3200 r.p.m. Reduced size and poundage suit it well for its job. It uses standard gasoline in spite of its high-compression and high-torque characteristics.

Well-known standard favorites also having new features for 1955 are Universal's Sea Lion Six, Cruiser Six and Blue Jacket Six. These are of 110, 90 and 60 horsepower respectively and are proved performers in all pleasure boat and fishing services. Fully enclosed, these engines have exclusive features such as water jacket clean-out plates, sump pump for sure, easy oil changes, special chrome-nickel alloy iron castings.

The newest example of Universal's 4-cylinder specialized experience is the Unimite Four. It develops 65 horsepower at 3400 r.p.m., has 141 cubic inch piston displacement. It's an ideal model for outboarders wanting to convert to inboard power because of its short 31 inch length and low 450-pound weight. Quiet operation is a result of its modern design.

Next in the power range comes the Super-Four, long known for its work-horse ability and lasting dependability This 149-cubic inch engine develops 50 horsepower at 3000 r.p.m. For 45 horsepower, there is the Blue Jacket Flexifour. Speed is 3800 r.p.m. and piston displacement totals 99 cubic inches.

The Atomic Four, one of the smallest marine fours, has an output of 25 horsepower in a size less than 26 inches, a real space saver in cruisers and auxiliaries. Displacement is 65 cubic inches.

Utility Four, the other 25 horsepower model, turns at 2500 r.p.m. and is in the 95 cubic inch displacement class. This engine is available in fuel oil and kerosene models.

The popular 12 horsepower Blue Jacket Twin and 8 horsepower single-cylinder Fisherman are preferred models for auxiliary service.

Choice of reduction drives, and both manual and hydraulic reversing are available. A variety of front-end equipment for fishing service is offered.

GRAYMARINE

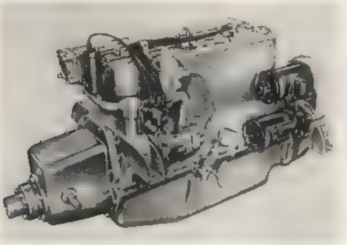
The Gray Marine Motor Company reports that 1954 was the biggest peacetime year in company history, with volume up nearly 50 percent over any previous year.

An interesting new 175 h.p. gasoline engine and a new 200 h.p. Diesel are headliners in Gray's 1955 models. Exclusive of reduction gear variations, there are 31 gasoline engines and 5 Diesels, which are individually described in a new edition of Gray's 64-page catalog, including detailed specifications, installation drawings with dimensions and weights, equipment lists, and photographs of American and foreign stock boats using these engines.

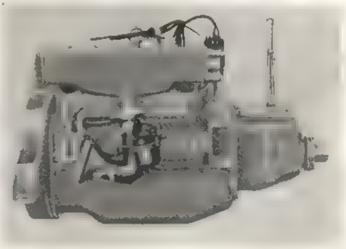
Examination of the Graymarine engines for 1955 shows a basic control of design, as all have a uniformity of arrangement and a similarity of appearance, except for size. Internally, all have individual intake ports in the cylinder block, and individual intake passages through the manifold to each cylinder. Externally, all have a uniform pattern of accessories arrangement, which does not change when the engine is equipped with fresh water cooling system. Thus all Graymarine engines are available with simple sea water pump for direct cooling, or with centrifugal pump substituted for sea water pump, circulating fresh water in a closed circuit, either with "keel cooling" by means of outboard heat exchanger, or with inboard heat exchanger. All styles have thermostatic control of engine operating temperature, either as standard or available equipment.

The model names of Graymarine engines are generally based either on horsepower rating or on piston displacement. The new 175 h.p. Model 175, which has a piston displacement of 363 cubic inches, is related to Gray's well known Model 150, which has piston displacement of 330 cubic inches. Both are based upon the industrial M-series of Continental Motors Corporation, of which Gray Marine is a subsidiary. Model 175, which has dual updraft carburetors for high output, is rated 175 h.p. at 3,400 r.p.m. It fills a unique power spot because it has a weight of only 1,050 pounds. Companion engine with single carburetor is Model 165, corresponding to a rating of 165 h.p. at 3,400 r.p.m. Both have sodium-cooled exhaust valves, seven main bearings, individual intake porting, 12-volt electrical systems as standard, and water-heated intake manifold for exceptionally low idling.

For heavy boats Gray offers Model 200, a gasoline engine with 427 cubic inch piston displacement, developing 200 h.p. on standard fuel at 3400 r.p.m. This supersedes the Super Six-427. It has dual updraft carburetors and 12-volt electrical



Universal Master Six, 6-cylinder, 105 h.p., 237 cubic inch displacement, 3200 r.p.m., direct drive model



Another Universal, the Unimite Four, 4-cylinder, 65 h.p., 141 cubic inch displacement, 3400 r.p.m., direct drive model

Featuring power, smoothness and quietness without high compression ratios, the Nordberg Knight One-Fifty-Five is rated at 155 h.p. It develops its rated horsepower with standard accessories, and single carburetion. Economical to run, the One-Fifty-Five is rated at a relatively low, conservative r.p.m. Other models, 95 to 155 h.p.

NORDBERG

Of the complete line of gasoline marine engines featured by Nordberg, the center of attraction will be the Nordberg Knight One-Fifty-Five. The other models include: the 130 h.p. Tarpon, 110 h.p. Marlin, 110 h.p. Bullet, 95 h.p. Arrow, and 95 h.p Bluefin.

The Knight—leader of the Nordberg gasoline marine engines—delivers its rated horsepower at a conservative, economical engine r.p.m. Important, too, the Knight One-Fifty-Five develops its rated horsepower with standard accessories, single carburetion and on regular automotive grades of gasoline. These latter three features alone point up the economy of the Knight One-Fifty-Five. But in addition, the very desirable horsepower r.p.m. ratio and improved "breathing capacity" give added features of power, smoothness and quietness without high compression ratios. Lower maintenance costs, greater fuel economy and longer engine life are assured with the engine developing its rated horsepower at a relatively low, conservative r.p.m.

The powerful Knight engine has had such universal appeal among the boating fraternity that, in order to meet the continuing demand for this engine, the manufacturer has devoted nearly half of its facilities to the production of it.

RED WING

The largest and most complete line in its half-century in the marine industry will be made available in 1955 by Red Wing Marine of Red Wing, Minn. The company is observing its golden anniversary this year.

The new line will consist of three categories. These are the Meteor Series, which has four lightweight high-speed gasoline engines ranging from 20 to 150 h.p.; the Arrowhead Series, with gasoline engines from 10 to 100 h.p.; and the Diesel Series with five engines ranging from 45 to 200 h.p. All are built for easy installation of Vee-Drive and have been designed to deliver maximum power, dependability and economical operation.

The Meteor "60" is believed to be the engine which will be in heavy demand this year. One of its most important features, established by thorough field testing, is its low fuel consumption for boats ranging from very small to large. The 20 h.p. Meteor "20" has been radically redesigned as a power plant for kit boats, runabouts and dories. The Meteor "20" will be available with Vee-Drive and all accessories. An extremely high-speed 6 cylinder engine is the Meteor "110" which will find special favor with owners of express cruisers or high speed runabouts.

Engines in the Red Wing Diesel Series have been redesigned to include features resulting from war-time experimentation and testing. They are particularly suited for heavy duty service. They are simple to operate and maintain. The diesel line includes four 6 cylinder engines, the 100 h.p. D6-100, the 140 h.p. D6-140, the 160 h.p. D6-160, and the 200 h.p. D6-200. Light-weight work horse of the diesel series is the 4 cylinder 45 h.p. D4-45.

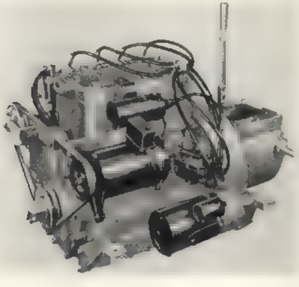
MARINE CADILLAC

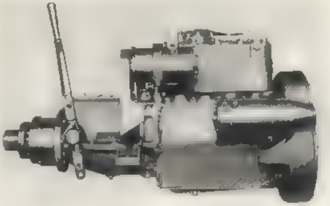
Among the leaders in engineering advances in the overhead valve field, Cadillac Motor Car Company has made history with its V-8. The Cal Connell Cadillac Company, authorized sales and service dealer for Cadillac motor cars and parts, produce this engine for marine use—Cadillac Crusader. Direct drive model weighs 800 pounds and the reduction gear model 890 pounds.

The Cadillac Crusader has been thoroughly engineered and tested under actual running conditions in salt water and fresh water and produces results in speed, economy and endurance typical of the name Cadillac. For marine purposes the Cadillac Crusader is rated 230 h.p. at 4000 r.p.m. Engine service parts are purchased through local Cadillac dealers. Marine replacement parts can be purchased from local representatives or direct from the factory.

They build many special engines for particular installations from 230 h.p. to 285 h.p. with all types of reductions or V-drives and a new tandem unit, two engines, of 250 h.p. each, driven through a common V-drive with reduction ratios from 2 to 1 to 3 to 1, having a total weight of 1800 pounds, for a total weight-per-horsepower ratio of 3.6 pounds per horsepower. These engines can be run intermittently or all together. This unit was produced for the marine enthusiast who desires the finest in marine power with the least weight and demands speed at full throttle and fuel economy at part throttle.

Right: Red Wing Meteor 20 has been radically redesigned as a power unit for kit boats, runabouts and dories. Red Wing also makes diesels from 45 to 200 h.p.





Left: The Arnolt Sea Mite, made by the Arnolt Corporation of Warsaw, Indiana, weighs only 281 pounds, yet delivers 20 h.p. at 2800 r.p.m. A complete compact engine, it has a two-unit 6-volt electric system, built-in reverse gear, latest type carburetion with approved flame arrester, electric fuel pump, bronze gear water pump, etc.

GM DETROIT DIESEL

New power rating reflecting increases of from 7 to 24 h.p. feature General Motors marine Diesels. The increases are due to design changes in the cylinder assemblies of both Series "71" and "110" models announced by GM's Detroit Diesel Engine Division in 1954.

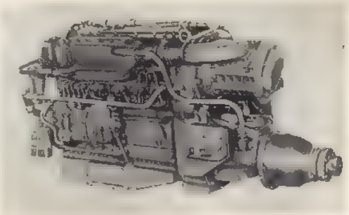
Prominent in Detroit Diesel's display is a matched pair of the comparatively new four-cylinder inclined Diesels of the "71" series. Equipped with new pistons and cylinder liners affording higher compression and freer engine breathing, these engines now have a rating of 151 h.p. each at 2300 r.p.m. in place of the former 138 h.p. rating at 2100 r.p.m. With head and block tilted 70° off vertical and a generous use of aluminum alloys these inclined Diesels are lower and lighter than the corresponding Series "71" vertical models and have been installed in craft as small as 28 feet.

Other engines featured this year are a Series "71" six-cylinder Diesel for yachts and workboats, a six-cylinder "6-110" model with front power take-off, the "4-51" small-boat Diesel and a 20 KW auxiliary generator. The latter is driven by a two-cylinder Series "71" Diesel

Contributing to better cooling and longer engine life on this year's models is a new engine water filter of the "by-pass" type. This provides mechanical filtration and also softens the water, controls alkalinity and inhibits rust and electro-chemical action.

Detroit Diesel Engine Division of General Motors has announced the availability of a new engine water filter as an optional accessory on Series "51", "71" and 6-110 Diesel engines.

Through the use of mechanical filtration, inhibitors and resistor plates the filter removes impurities from the cooling system, softens the cooling water and controls alkalinity, rust formation and electro-chemical action.



Special feature of the Hercules Model DIX-6ES marine diesel is the low weight to horsepower ratio—150 h.p. on a weight of only 1490 pounds. This is a 6-cylinder model, 3 7/8-inch bore by 4-inch stroke, with a piston displacement of 283 cubic inches. Hercules motors range from 12 to 500 horsepower

The unit contains a replaceable filter element which is to be renewed at regular intervals depending upon the chemical composition of the cooling water. In the event the element becomes clogged, water by-passes the filter and no filtering action takes place until the element is replaced.

The filters are easily installed and range from 3½ inches to 5 inches in diameter and from 6 inches to 7½ inches in height depending upon the engine.

HERCULES

Hercules Motors Corporation, Canton, Ohio, is now marketing a line of marine diesel engines with horsepower ranging from 12-500. The new Hercules Marine Diesel Engines feature compact size, lightweight design and are produced for high-speed, heavy-duty service. These marine diesel engines are available for powering both pleasure craft and working vessels.

To meet the varying requirements of the marine industry the new Hercules Marine Diesel Engines are offered in many different models and specifications. For instance, Hercules Marine Diesels are available with direct drive or reduction gear, dual water pumps, keel-cooling or heat exchanger, supercharged or natural aspiration and hydraulic or manual reverse gears. Standard features include rubber mountings, hydraulic reverse gear, direct drive, propeller coupling, cold starting aid, sheave-type power takeoff as well as the many special features of Hercules engines. Various marine engine accessories are also available.

Hercules Engines produce many operating economies. Initial savings in fuel oil combined with more power per gallon of fuel used, provides double economy. They operate satisfactorily on either No. 2 or No. 1 fuel oil.

The following models are featured: Model DIX4E—4 cylinder 3⅞" bore by 4" stroke; 180 cu. in. piston displacement; 75 h.p. at 3000 r.p.m.; Weight . . . 890 lbs. Model DIX4ES—4 clyinder 3⅞" bore by 4" stroke; 180 cu. in. piston displacement; 95 h.p. at 3000 r.p.m ; Weight . . . 990 lbs. Model DIX6E—6 cylinder 3⅞" bore by 4" stroke; 283 cu. in. piston displacement; 105 h.p. at 3000 r.p.m.; Weight . . .1380 lbs. Model DIX6ECS—6 cylinder 3⅞" bore by 4" stroke; 283 cu. in. piston displacement; 150 h.p. at 3000 r.p.m.; Weight . . . 1490 lbs. Model DFXH 6 cylinder 5¾" bore by 6" stroke; 935 cu. in. piston displacement; 250 h.p. at 2100 r.p.m ; Weight . . . 4500 lbs. At Port Clinton, Ohio, The Matthews Company is turning out four different models of 42-footers for 1955. Illustrated is the flying-bridge, double-cabin cruiser large cockpit for fishing, sunning and water sports. The Deckhouse model also sleeps six and features a twin-cabin arrangement. A dual control station can be mounted atop the main cabin of the Deckhouse model making it into a De Luxe Fisherman.

The 36-foot models are duplications of the 32-foot Flying Bridge and Deckhouse models. The extra four feet is in the cockpit in the Flying Bridge model and in the main cabin in the Deckhouse model. Both 32s and the 36s are powered with single gasoline engines from 150 to 200 h.p. and in twin installations ranging from twin 95s to twin 200s for speeds from 20 to 26 m.p.h. Single and twin diesel installations are also listed.

All Steel-Clipper cruisers have formed steel hulls that are rust-proofed with a heavy coating of resin Vinyl plastic and are salt water equipped. They are thoroughly sound-proofed. Philippine mahogany is used throughout the superstructure and the workmanship is in accordance with highest yacht standards

LE COMTE COMPANY

In addition to a 65-foot motor yacht, A Le Comte Co., Inc., of New Rochelle, N. Y., are building four 53-foot yachts at their yards in Holland. The first of the 53-footers was delivered recently. The basic hull design for these boats was prepared by Frederick K. Lord, while the interior layouts were worked out by Le Comte Company. Three different interior arrangements are available while special arrangements can also be provided. A typical arrangement provides three double staterooms and two bathrooms with showers, lavatories, electric heads in owner's quarters, large salon, galley and dinette. Stainless steel is used extensively in the galley.

There is an additional double stateroom forward with its own lavatory, shower and head. Fuel and water tanks are amidship so that the trim will not be affected regardless of whether they are full or empty. American equipment is of the best makes. Two 6-71 G.M. diesels, of 216 h.p. each give speeds to 17 m.p.h.

A new 45-foot flush deck cruiser is also under construction. It will follow the same general style as the 53-footer. The hull for this was also designed by Frederick K. Lord, and the interior arranged by Le Comte. On this 45-footer are provided three double staterooms, two showers, heads, and lavatories. A roomy salon provides comfortable quarters with a dinette arranged to seat four.

Construction of all these boats calls for choice Burma teak decks and deckhouses. The salon is finished in bleached teak.

A choice of power plants is offered from 145 h.p. gasoline to 216 h.p. diesels. Speeds up to 21 miles are possible.

MATTHEWS

The 1955 series of four different models of 42-footers continues Matthews policy of concentrating on one size hull and building four separate models into this hull. These models are the "42" Deluxe Sedan, the "42" Convertible Sedan, the "42" Flying Bridge Double Cabin, and the "42" Sport Fisherman. All models have an overall length of 42 feet, a beam of 11 feet 10 inches, and a draft of 3 feet 4 inches.

The "42" Deluxe Sedan is one of the most popular models ever produced by the company. It has sleeping accommodations for six, with a large comfortable deckhouse and an aft cockpit of ample size for fishing. The forward cabin can be used for guests or crew's quarters, and the accommodations include two toilets and complete accommodations.

The "42" Convertible Sedan is the newest and currently the most popular model produced by the company. The Convertible Sedan sleeps six and incorporates the best features of the enclosed deckhouse Sedan with the flexibility of opening up the deckhouse, to provide a single large open cockpit, twenty feet long. The change-over can be done in two minutes' time, and involves folding back the dividing partition between the deckhouse and the aft cockpit. The large davenport lounge in the deckhouse, which sleeps two, is equipped with casters allowing it to be moved easily.

The flying bridge, with dual controls, is available on this model, and also on the Deluxe Sedan and the "42" Sport Fisherman.

The "42" Sport Fisherman is specifically designed for off-shore fishing with accommodations for a party of five. This model has been built by Matthews for a great many years and is considered, by American sport fishermen and charter fishermen, to be one of the most popular fishing cruisers built today.

The fourth model in the 65th anniversary line, is the "42" Double Cabin Flying Bridge cruiser. This is the most luxurious model built by Matthews and features the flying bridge with complete controls. Dual controls in the deckhouse are also available.

The owner's stateroom aft, in this model, is arranged with twin beds with a large adjoining toilet room and separate shower room. This cabin layout is as large as the cabins on much larger yachts. The forward cabin sleeps two, and two more persons are accommodated on the deckhouse's davenport.

All four of the 42-footers are available with several different choices of power, with single and twin screws, both in gasoline and Diesel. Speeds are available up to 26 m.p.h.

This 53-footer, presented by A. Le Comte Co., Inc., New Rochelle, was built in Holland. Three different standard interior arrangements are available on one hull

Newcomer in the Lyman fleet is this 20-foot inboard runabout (left), with beam of 7 feet 4 inches. Optional power plants produce speeds up to 35 m.p.h. Right: The 20-foot Dutch-built Celebrity, by Wester & Evanson

13-foot outboard runabout is a smaller edition of the 15-footer, handling motors up to 25 h.p. Both the 13-and 15-foot runabouts have lockers under the forward decks for stowage. Steering wheels can be mounted amidship. Other features are a built-in tool box under the stern side seat and a shelf under the amidship deck for small items.

Variations of the runabout models are called Fishermen and Anglers. Both are built in 13- and 15-foot sizes.

The Leader is a 13-footer, light and easy to transport, and is designed for motors in the 10 h.p. range. The Ideal is a double-purpose boat; it rows easily and takes a motor up to 5 h.p.

FRANK L. SAMPLE

The Down East 42, built by Frank L. Sample & Son, Inc., of Boothbay Harbor, Maine, is a high performing hull developed over the years in the rough waters off the coast of Maine. It is designed to be able in any type of sea and maintain its speed and maneuverability in rough water. The latest methods of hull construction and use of the newest materials have been embodied in their production.

This boat is built from designs by Dwight S. Simpson and Richard O. Davis in cooperation with the builders. Many model tests were conducted by the engineers of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and actual tests of the completed hulls have far exceeded all expectations.

These boats are level riding, afford good visibility and do not pound. They do not go in for fancy fittings and unnecessary gadgets but do provide all of the comforts for modern living, such as a shower, hot and cold water, Monel or stainless steel in the galley. The hull is exceptionally strong and well built with a trunk cabin and semi enclosed deckhouse.

The interior is arranged so as to provide a double stateroom forward, with the main cabin following. This features a dinette convertible into a double bed and also an upper and lower berth. A galley with ample capacity and also a separate lavatory are included in the cabin space.

The standard power plant consists of two 200 h.p. V-8 Chrysler marine engines operating through 2 to 1 reduction gears for speeds up to 22 knots. Structural members are of selected oak with double mahogany planking, all Everdur-fastened. The complete list of equipment supplied with the boat is most impressive and, except for provisions and personal gear, the boat is ready to go when delivered.

WESTER AND EVANSON

Built in Holland, the Celerity class sloop is just a few inches under 20 feet and imported by Wester and Evanson, Philadelphia 18, Pa. These sloops are round-bottomed hulls built of narrow mahogany strip planks about ⅝ inch thick. Hulls are finished in clear varnish, and the strip plank method of planking makes it unnecessary ever to bother with caulking. Decks and cockpits are wide and beamy for sailing in comfort and safety. As many as eight persons could occupy the cockpit space without overcrowding. A canvas spray shield serves to cover a part of the cockpit space as a protection against sun and weather. In fact, a pair of sleeping bags or air mattresses will serve to convert the cockpit to sleeping quarters for two. These boats are built one at a time by skilled craftsmen who take pride in their work, and the finished product commands the admiration of the yachtsman.

BURGER

Burger Boat Co., Manitowoc, Wis., recently resumed production of its line of standardized steel cruisers for the first time since the Korean War. Since 1950, the Burger plant has been in all-out production on U. S. Navy non-magnetic minesweepers. Because the Navy work will continue to demand much of Burger's yard space for nearly another year, pleasure craft production will be on a somewhat limited basis for some time at least, according to Henry C. Burger, president and manager.

First of the post-Korea Burger boats is Hal-Pan III, a new 54-footer that was being completed for delivery in early December to Harold Richter of Chicago.

The new Burger "54" which supersedes the former "53" seems destined to remain the popularity leader of the Burger fleet. The new boat is considerably changed from the pre-Korea "53," it was pointed out. In addition to the foot added to overall length, the beam has been increased from 14 feet 6 inches to 15 feet.

The entirely new hull lines were done with the assistance of Dair N. Long, naval architect of Newport Beach, Calif. Long has designed many of the Navy's high speed craft. With a sharper entry, the new hull has been engineered for better performance, including higher speed,

A real man's boat big, husky and able. for offshore fishing. She's the Down East 42, built by Frank Sample at Boothbay Harbor. Standard power is a pair of Chrysler V-8's giving speeds to 22 knots

New for 1955—the Chris-Craft 21-foot Capri, a smart runabout with engine options from 130 to 200 h.p., for speeds up to 49 m.p.h. Right: Chris-Craft now builds a line of sea skiffs. This 26 footer will make 29 m.p.h. depending upon power

CHRIS-CRAFT

Chris-Craft's completely new 1955 "Freedom Fleet" is a result of the biggest and most important model changeover in the history of the corporation. Sweeping changes in both style and hull design have affected boats of every length.

Cruiser bows are raked farther ahead to improve both appearance and performance, and the white bow-cap, long associated with Chris-Craft, has been replaced by heavy contoured, mahogany rails that sweep back cleanly from the stem head. New exterior colors selected to blend with rich red Philippine Mahogany and chrome in sparkling combinations, accent lower, racier appearance. Improved style is in evidence inside new cruisers and motor yachts, as well, for drapes, linoleum, carpets, upholstery and interior finishes have been carefully integrated in a fashion similar to modern homes.

A new sport boat series offers many new models in various lengths and price ranges, but all offer greater speed, improved performance, more attractive mahogany hulls and more lush cockpit trimmings.

The Capri, a fast runabout, is offered in 19 and 21 feet. Both have two-tone mahogany hulls, swept-back, curved windshield, twin cockpits and plenty of speed—38 and 49 m.p.h. respectively.

Four different lengths are included in a new Holiday series that features roomy open cockpits and plenty of beam. The Holidays have severely raked stems and outward flaring hullsides, all the way to the transom. Different Holiday models are the 18, 20, 22 and the 25. Wide power options bring speeds to 47 m.p.h.

Biggest news in fast runabouts is the new Cobra, a marine counterpart of the sports cars that have attracted national attention. A 39 m.p.h. 18 and a 50 m.p.h. 21-foot Cobra are offered. Both are distinguished by bows that lean ahead, sheer lines that taper close to the water at the transom, curved- swept-back windshields, lavishly appointed cockpits, raised engine cowls, graceful tail-fins and an abundance of speed.

Eighteen through 25-foot Continentals are offered in a new series that combines the utility of open fishing boats with the speed and style of runabouts. All have outward flaring hull sides that increase the beam and promote a drier ride. The ultra-modern trend apparent in the flowing lines of these boats is carried out in interior trim as well.

Price leader of the Freedom Fleet is a new 17-foot Sportsman offered with 60 to 131 h.p. for speeds to 39 m.p.h.

Three two-sleeper Express models lead off the cruiser fleet and include a 22, 25 and a twin-screw 27. All present a low, racy profile and have twin berths and space for installation of a galley and toilet. The 27-foot Express features a cockpit over 12 feet long.

New twenty-sixes include a Semi Enclosed Cruiser, a Sedan and a Sedan with fly-bridge. The Semi has driver's and companion seats plus twin, plastic-covered berths under the streamlined top, and a head in the bow. Both the Sedan and the Fly-Bridge have sleeping accommodations for four, with a dinette, galley, lounge, wardrobe and separate toilet compartment.

Five Twenty-Nines are available and all can be powered with single or twin engines. Both a Sportsman and a Semi-Enclosed 29 can handle twin 145's for speeds to 38 m.p.h. Both have roomy cockpits and a toilet compartment, forward. The Semi has twin berths, behind the driver's and companion seats, and a streamlined hard-top with side and aft curtains gives all-weather protection. Four-sleeper Sedans and Expresses are available in the 29 Series and a new Capitan completes the group.

Dual controls can be installed in the 34-foot Capitan and when this is done a special compartment inside the helmsman seat can be used to store a fold-away bed. This increases the sleeping capacity from four to five. Cabin facilities include dinette, galley, twin berths, forward, and a full-height toilet room.

A twin-powered 33-foot Commander has sheltered fly-bridge and a partially enclosed after deck arrangement similar to the Capitans. Vee-berths are forward and the main cabin has a dinette that converts into a bed, a complete galley, a wardrobe and a full-height toilet room.

Four and six-sleeper Commanders and a new Corvette make up a 37-foot series. Exteriors are similar, with streamlined tops over the bridge, cabin-sides extended to form low enclosures around the cockpit, raised sheer lines and lean, clipper bow. Both have vee-berths in a forward cabin and a full-height toilet room. The 4-sleeper has a davenport-bed combination, drop-leaf table and an extra large galley, in the main cabin. The 6-sleeper has a lounge that forms upper and lower berths, a dinette that converts into a double bed and a complete galley. Forward cabins on the Corvette are similar to the four-sleeper Commander, but in addition, there's a completely private cabin in the after deck. This separate stateroom even has a private toilet-room and a compact wardrobe and dresser.

An Express and four- and six-sleeper Commanders are included in Chris-Craft's 42 Series, a selection of deluxe craft that express a "new look" in cruiser interiors. This new look is created by uniting the main salon, galley and dinette into a single spacious living area. Separating the galley from the Korina paneled deckhouse is a low buffet arrangement that cleaner running and dryness, Burger pointed out.

The electric-welded steel hull which was pioneered by Burger over 30 years ago is now being given a special smoothing coat topsides and on the bottom to prevent corrosion and electrolysis. This process is exclusive with Burger.

Even though Burger hulls are strictly stock, owners may specify changes from the standard in the interior arrangements and appointments. Hal-Pan III has an enclosed bridge, while the open bridge with standing canopy top is standard.

Standard power in the new Burger "54" is a pair of 200 h.p. six-cylinder G.M. 6-71 diesel engines of the latest type. Propeller shaft assembly, etc. is of non-magnetic materials to prevent corrosion and electrolysis.

The new year marks the 90th year for Burger. Originally founded in 1865 to build Great Lakes sailing vessels, the firm has served the U. S. Navy, Army and Maritime Commission in three wars.

Burger yachts (above) are designed for comfort on extended cruises. They feature an electrically welded steel hull

LUDERS

The big news of Luders Marine Construction Company is a new 27-foot waterline molded plywood auxiliary sloop. Along with her will be the perennially popular L-16 and, it is hoped, a new 16-foot utility boat.

This year Luders presents as flagship a new concept of a 40-foot overall cruising auxiliary known as the L-27. With mast towering nearly 60 feet above the Armory floor she is the largest boat yet of molded plywood construction as pioneered by Luders.

The L-16 needs no introduction to old hands at the show. One of the most popular boats of her type ever produced, there are fleets in yachting centers throughout the world.

The 16-foot utility boat introduces a versatile addition to the Luders line. She is so designed that either inboard or outboard power may be used. Her flared bow makes her exceedingly dry. She is rugged and may be powered to achieve speeds up to 30 m.p.h.

All of these hulls are of molded mahogany plywood construction, which over the years has proved to have many advantages. First, they are stronger and more resistant to damage. Second, if damage should befall, repairs are simpler and become an integral part of the boat. Third, it makes for economy of upkeep because caulking and puttying are eliminated. Fourth, you no longer have to wait for a boat to swell up after a lay-up, because with molded plywood construction there are no seams to shrink or swell and the hull is dry from the moment of launching. Last, but important, few frames are required, and those mostly to support bulkheads so a clean, smooth cabin interior is achieved.

Left: The internationally known L-16 of molded plywood by Luders offers keen competition and exceptional sailing ability. They also build a 27-foot auxiliary

INLAND SEAS

The Inland Seas Boat Company of Cleveland, Ohio, are building six models of their Steel-Clipper cruisers on three different hull lengths for 1955.

The 22-footer is a Sport Cruiser with two berths, toilet and galley under the raised deck cabin forward. Optional power is offered from 95 h.p. to 200 h.p. single screw and twin 95s for a speed range from 22 to 35 m.p.h. The 22 is used by offshore fishermen, fishing guides and the Conservation Departments of several states.

CORRECT CRAFT

With a most complete assortment of boats in production for 1955, the Correct Craft Company with plants in Pinecastle and Titusville, Florida, is prepared to supply anything between a 12 foot rowboat and a 50-foot motor yacht. Rowboats are available in 12-, 14- and 16-foot sizes, either with or without bait wells. Outboard runabouts come in 14- and 16-foot lengths, while two sizes of outboard cruisers 19 and 21 feet are also provided. These can be arranged to serve as either outboard or inboard craft.

In the inboard runabout styles there are eight different models to choose from Smallest is the 14⅓-foot Atom Skier which can be fitted with a choice of 60 h.p. engines. Next larger is the 15½ foot Junior Deluxe with a double-planked bottom. Choice of engines for this ranges from 45 h.p. to 75 h.p. Gray, or the 65 h.p. Universal.

There are two models, both 17 feet 2 inches. These are the Aqua Skier with either a Gray or Nordberg of 110 h.p and the Dart Deluxe with a wide range of power choices from the 60 h.p. Gray to the 112 h.p., also the Nordberg or Universal in the same general range.

In 18 feet we find the Commuter and the Hurricane models. This last has a dual cockpit forward. The choice of power plant here takes in almost the entire field—Chryslers to 200 h p., Grays to 175 h.p., Nordbergs to 155 h.p. and the Universal 145 h.p. The 21-foot Clear Water and Boca Raton, a deluxe utility, can also be supplied with the same range of power plant as the 18-footers, thus providing almost any desired range of speeds.

The cruiser models start with the 21-foot double-planked inboard cruiser which will function with engines up to 100 h.p. These cruisers are all double-planked throughout. The 24-foot Vacationer is listed as an express with somewhat higher speeds and can handle up to 115 h.p. The larger 26-foot Northport sedan cruiser can take up to the 135 h.p. Gray. As the cruisers get larger the choice of engines increases. The 28-foot Marathon express model can be powered with any of the Gray engines or the Chryslers or Nordbergs. Twin engines can also be fitted so that a maximum of 270 h.p. is available.

Left: The 24-foot Vacationer by Correct Craft sleeps two. It's a popular sportsman's express cruiser. Below: Their 34-foot Key Wester with enclosed bridge, dinette, galley, toilet; single or twin screw

The 34-foot Gulfstream Fisherman is a twin-screw boat of faster lines and carries a pair of Chryslers, Grays, Nordberg Knights or Universals. Up to 400 h.p. can be installed, giving a truly spectacular performance. The Key Wester is an express cruiser of closely similar proportions which will also function with pairs of engines up to a pair of Chrysler 200's. The Chesapeake sedan has a roomy sedan cabin for greater accommodation and will also operate with pairs of engines up to the 200 h.p. Grays

Correct Craft's Flying Bridge Miamian is a 44-foot cruiser usually fitted with twin engines totaling 300-400 h.p. and their largest is the 50-foot flush deck yacht Southwind which can be driven by two 200 h.p. gasoline or diesel engines.

SUMNERCRAFT

Sumner Boat Company, Inc. of Brightwaters, Long Island—now in its second year of production on Sumnercraft cruisers with the Compoglas (wood-Fiberglas) hull -presents three 1955 models: a new 23 foot skiff, a 23 foot cruiser and a 26 foot cruiser.

Sumnercraft are distinguished by the fact that their Compoglas hull is strip-planked in orthodox fashion and then covered with Fiberglas. The 26-footer illustrated sleeps four in a full-headroom cabin, Standard power is a 95 h.p. Nordberg with other engine options

The 1955 Sumnercraft 26 reveals slight design modifications over 1954—greater sheer and less freeboard—the 1955 cruiser has longer, lower lines, more speed, no spray. Another new feature is a mahogany cockpit deck. This model sleeps four in a full-headroom cabin including dinette (seats four), galley, sink, insulated icebox, enclosed toilet forward, and foam rubber cushions. She is powered by a 95 h.p. Nordberg, other engines optional. Outside windshield drive and spacious cockpit with stern seat are also featured.

With a "sell-out" of all boats built last year and with many commitments for the Spring through its two principal dealers, Watts & DeGarmo of Babylon, L. I., and Chapman's of Manasquan, N. J., Sumner Boat Company is now expanding production with a second plant at Amityville, L. I. The Compoglas hull—a patented construction of orthodox strip planking sealed in Fiberglas—has now withstood a reasonable test of time. Twelve boats, in the water from four to fourteen months, have passed all surveys to date. The hull's special features have proved themselves — it is leakproof, rot-and worm-resistant. The exterior finish (color-impregnated Fiberglas) will last the lifetime of the boat.

The new sportfishing skiff, a 23-footer, will feature a hard-top shelter cabin, two berths and toilet forward, fish wells and mahogany cockpit. Like the 23 foot and 26 foot cruisers, she's powered by a 95 h.p. Nordberg.

contains the ice-box and has plenty of storage space. The Commander six-sleeper has a lounge on the port side of the carpeted deckhouse, and a dinette, opposite, that convert into double beds.

Also included in the 42 Series is a new Commodore, a double-cabin cruiser with fly-bridge. Chris-Craft's introduction of the Sun-deck feature, several years ago, attracted so much interest that the specially built topside grouping point is now being offered as standard equipment on the Commodore and the larger double-cabin models. Forward cabins offer essentially the same facilities as others in the series except that the dinette is opposite the galley and deckhouse has cabin entrances port and starboard in addition to companionways leading to the forward section, bridge and aft stateroom.

A full-fledged yacht at a cruiser price is Chris-Craft's claim for their new 45-foot Corsair with protected walk-around decks, Sun-Deck, and cruising accommodations for eight. As you walk through the cabins on the Corsair it's much like being shown through a modern home. The master stateroom, with its private adjoining toilet compartment, is done in pastel tones, Philippine Mahogany, dressers, wardrobe and bedsteads. The main salon, ahead, is paneled in blonde Korina with harmonizing colors in carpeting, drapes and upholstery. Gay colors in practical vinyl upholstery, linoleum floor covering, and heat-resistant countertops, greet you in the galley and dinette.

A larger sister-ship to the Corsair is offered in a new 53-foot Conqueror which has sleeping accommodations for ten. Here too, the Sun-Deck is standard. In addition to a master stateroom, aft, there's a guest stateroom, just ahead, with comfortable upper and lower berths. A toilet compartment that adjoins both staterooms has plenty of space for a tiled shower.

Above: Chris-Craft's 45-foot Corsair, with twin engines of 320 to 400 total horsepower, has speeds of up to 27 m.p.h., and accommodations for eight persons

Most regal of Chris-Craft's 1955 fleet is the new 53-foot Constellation, a flush deck motor yacht that sleeps ten in solid sea-going comfort.

The rise in popularity of Chris-Craft's new round-bilge lapstrake seaskiff line has seen it grow from a single 22-footer, just a year ago, to an entire fleet including low-cost open seaskiffs and husky, twin-screw, full-fledged cruisers.

From a compact 18-foot Seaskiff to a big 35-foot semi-enclosed cruiser that sleeps four, all have round-bilge hulls that provide a smooth soft cushioned ride and embody a new technique in lapstrake construction. Chris-Craft uses a special synthetic rubber sealer that is applied to the planks and joints, in a glutinous state. Once the sealer is applied, the planks of marine-grade fir plywood are drawn tight and secured with brass screws into the frames, and rivets or copper clout nails in between. The compound penetrates into the pores of the wood, and as it cures, sets up a long lasting, non-hardening bond.

LYMAN

The Lyman Boat Works, of Sandusky, Ohio, specialists in clinker construction since 1875, announce two new inboards for '55.

An 18-foot runabout, with a beam of 6 feet 10 inches is now in production. The interior arrangement is of the utility type with all controls, including the steering wheel, located in the forward cockpit. The motor is housed in a separate amidship compartment and a seat is built in the stern. The hull, of the true planing type, is clinker-built as are all Lyman models. It is planked with ⅜-inch waterproof plywood White oak frames are spaced on 6-inch centers. The boat is powered with optional motors from 60 to 100 h.p. for speeds of 28 to 33 m.p.h.

Another new model is a 20-footer with a beam of 7 feet 4 inches. The interior arrangement of this boat is similar to the 18-foot runabout. Optional powers, ranging from 100 to 135 h.p., for maximum speeds to 35 m.p.h., are available. Extensive tests have proved the seaworthiness of the new 18- and 20-foot runabouts.

The Islander rounds out the Lyman inboard line. This model, which features side steering, is ideal for the fisherman, particularly one who trolls, as all controls are located approximately amidships within easy reach of the operator. Optional powers range from 25 to 60 h.p. for boat speeds of from 15 to 23 m.p.h. Optional equipment for the Islander includes such items as a live bait well, toilet, ice box and folding top.

The Lyman outboard line includes eight models, most popular of which is a 15-foot runabout. This hull is perfectly suited to motors from 25 to 50 h.p. A
